

Nixon signature nets Social Security boosts

By JANE DENISON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed Saturday what he termed an inflationary and "fiscally irresponsible" 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits which Democrats pushed through Congress to produce higher benefits a month before the Nov. 7 elections.

The increase, attached to legislation extending the $450 billion ceiling on the national debt for four months, will be financed by higher payroll withholding taxes starting Jan. 1. The tax bite will rise from the present maximum of $468 to $594 next year.

The Social Security increase was initiated by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and was overwhelmingly approved by both parties in the House and Senate Friday before Congress recessed for the Democratic National Convention.

Higher benefits will take effect in September and will be reflected in checks reaching 28.1 million aged and disabled beneficiaries Oct. 3.

The average monthly benefit for individuals will rise from $133 to $161, and for a couple from $223 to $270.

The maximum benefit will grow from $216 a month to $259 for an individual, and from $324 to $389 for a couple.

For the first time, benefits will rise automatically under the bill any time the cost of living rises more than 3 per cent in one year, a provision Nixon called "a major break-through for older Americans."

It also allows flood victims to file an amended 1971 federal income tax return to claim flood losses in the first six months of 1972 as a tax deduction.

JOHN N. Mitchell resigned Saturday as President Nixon's re-election campaign director in order to devote more time to his wife and family. The resignation came just a week after his wife Martha said she would leave him unless he quit politics. They are shown here together in 1971 photo. (UPI)

Daley stalks old leverage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Though denied convention seats in a preliminary party ruling, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and 58 fellow would-be delegates won a legal skirmish in the Supreme Court Saturday that could bolster their claim to be the legitimate representatives of Illinois Democrats.

In a ruling by Justice William H. Rehnquist, a local court in Cook County, Ill., was given a go-ahead to continue proceedings in which it had temporarily prohibited rivals of the Daley delegation from pressing their claim within the party.

Because the local court injunction had been stayed by a federal court, the rivals did present their claim to the credentials committee meeting here this week and on Friday received committee sanction to be seated in place of the Daley delegation, which was formed as a result of winning in Illinois primary voting.

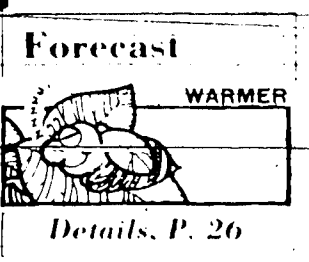

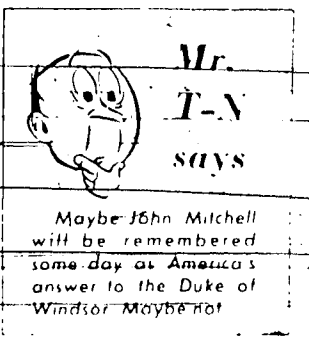

The credentials committee ruling, which gave the candidacy of Sen. George S. McGovern a boost, will be raised again at the national convention in Miami Beach later this month and could be reversed on a vote by the full convention.

Daley's delegation had been officially uncommitted to any presidential candidate; the challenge delegation includes 40 McGovern supporters.

Rehnquist's ruling technically was to refuse to interfere with federal appeals court clearance for the state courts to proceed to consider the dispute. A lower federal court had ordered the state courts to stop.

Rehnquist ruled that the challengers had failed to demonstrate state courts could not adequately handle the case. He said they therefore must be allowed to continue.

But Rehnquist, the high court's newest member, expressed considerable reluctance to rule because the Supreme Court is in summer recess and there would not likely be a chance for full high court review of the issues.

Judge orders road be open to festival goers

GRANBY, Colo. (UPI) — Thousands of youths walked along country roads previously blocked by local authorities Saturday toward a rendezvous with the Rainbow Family of Living Light and a four-day religious festival high in the Colorado Rockies.

An estimated 6,000 youths camped near Strawberry Lake, a bog in a valley near Granby and the site of the festival. About 4,000 of them had trekked into the area since Friday night when Grand County commissioners unexpectedly pulled down the roadblocks set up last Sunday.

The action came shortly after a Steamboat Springs district judge upheld the legality of the roadblocks, but authorities were worried about congestion in the small resort town.

"The situation was becoming intolerable at the staging area near Granby," said County Attorney Richard Douchette. He referred to the area where a temporary camp was erected by the thousands of persons rebuffed by the roadblocks.

Douchette said because of favorable health reports, the county opened the roadblocks but stressed they reserved the right to close them again.

The county roads leading to the head trails up to Strawberry Lake were opened to foot traffic only Friday.

Aircraft carrier Wasp ends 30-year career

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (UPI) — The aircraft carrier Wasp, heavily damaged in a Japanese attack during the invasion of Iwo Jima in World War II, was decommissioned Saturday after a 30-year career.

The carrier, the ninth U.S. Navy ship to bear that name, was stricken from the Navy list because of the high cost of repairs. The 808-foot vessel was placed on reduced operating status earlier this year.

The Wasp was launched Aug. 13, 1943, and sent to the Pacific theatre of operations. In March, 1945, while Wasp was supporting the invasion of Iwo Jima, two Japanese planes penetrated its anti-aircraft defenses and dropped a 500-pound bomb through the flight and hangar decks, killing 102 sailors and injuring 269 others.

Despite the heavy toll, fires were put out and repairs under way in less than an hour and the Wasp was again launching support aircraft.

The ship was refitted in 1945, and 10 years later participated in the evacuation of the Tachen Islands by the Chinese Nationalists.

Nixon extends benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Saturday signed legislation extending for another six months the law under which jobless workers may receive up to 13 weeks of additional unemployment compensation benefits.

"While the economy is showing encouraging signs of growth," Nixon said, "the anticipated reduction in unemployment is taking more time in some areas and, therefore, a temporary continuation of emergency unemployment compensation benefits is needed."

The original legislation, which expired at the end of the business year Friday, provided up to 13 weeks of additional benefits for workers in economically hard hit areas who have exhausted all rights.

2 injured in T.F. accident

TWIN FALLS — Two persons were treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released Saturday afternoon following a two-car accident on Third Avenue East and Elm Street.

City police said Catherine Corbridge, 21, Twin Falls, was driving north on Elm Street when her car collided with one driven by Virginia E. Stearns, 45, Twin Falls, traveling west on Third Avenue East.

Mrs. Corbridge's husband, Lonnie Corbridge, suffered back injuries and cuts and bruises of the head. Their 2-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Lynn Corbridge, was treated for shock, cuts and bruises, as was Mrs. Corbridge.

City police said Mrs. Stearns escaped injury. The Corbridge vehicle was demolished and the Stearns auto was damaged about $800. Police said residents living at the accident scene brought blankets to help treat the child for shock and cold water to assist Corbridge who suffered a severe bruise and cut over the right eye.

Divorce suit may cause death

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Myra Ann Viernes said Saturday if her husband divorces her, it will mean her death. She is contesting the divorce suit filed by her soldier husband because if the suit is granted she will lose her military dependency and, with it, the free use of the kidney machine that is keeping her alive.

The divorce suit was filed by Roger Lee Viernes, an Army enlisted man stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo.

Mrs. Viernes' attorney, Larry Hecox, filed an affidavit last week with Judge William Calvert in which the woman, from Springfield, Tenn., said she is suffering from chronic kidney failure.

Mrs. Viernes said her status as a military dependent keeps her alive through the free use of a machine that flushes her kidneys of deadly poisons several times a week.

Treating severe kidney disease is expensive—the machine alone costs $23,000 annually. Mrs. Viernes is also open to a kidney transplant if a donor can be found, at a cost of $10,000.

"I'll be damned if she's going to be unhooked from that kidney machine—at least not until we get to the U.S. Supreme Court," said Hecox, who is challenging the constitutionality of the law under which Viernes is seeking divorce.

Colorado statutes permit servicemen to file for a divorce after spending only 90 days in the area and the divorce itself can be final in another 90 days. Under the state's new Dissolution of Marriage Act, there are no grounds for divorce except that the marriage is "irretrievably broken," Hecox said.

The Viernes have two children, a boy and a girl. Hecox said Calvert had taken the matter under advisement and hoped for a ruling soon. "But the judge is without a library because he is changing offices and I know he wants to research this case very much," Hecox said.

"Mrs. Viernes has never lived in Colorado," he said. "Viernes is not domiciled here. Colorado can't grant a divorce to the military simply because they're here at the instigation of the U.S. government."

Dan Shooks, Viernes' attorney, said it would be impractical to permit Viernes to return to his native Hawaii for the divorce.

"Military people are not second class citizens," Shooks said. "They, more than anybody else, deserve consideration."

"It's a very sad situation," Hecox said.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Viernes waits for Judge Calvert's decision, which has been delayed by the move from an old to a new courthouse.

"I think my husband has done this to kill me," she was quoted as saying in a Colorado Springs newspaper.

Campers pay fee

TWIN FALLS — Fourth of July campers will be paying the $1 per day fee in the Stanley Basin area, U.S. Forest Service officials have announced.

In most other areas the fees have not been initiated for the season. For those going into high country, the forest service reports some high elevation lakes are still frozen and some higher roads are still muddy or in poor condition.

In the Fairfield area all campgrounds are open this weekend but filling rapidly. The road from Fairfield to Dollarhide Summit is passable to Carriatown. Couch Summit is open to all vehicles. The trail to Goat Lake is snow covered.

Fishing is listed good north of Fairfield. The road from Big Smoky to Featherville is rough at Willow Creek. The South Fork of the Boise River is muddy and fishing is only fair.

All campgrounds in the South Hills are open but the road from Rock Creek to Oakley is closed beyond the Rock Creek Ranger Station.

Independence Lake trail is snow covered in the Cassia area and the lower elevations south of Burley are extremely dry but all campgrounds are open. No maintenance has been possible on the higher trails in that area. Also snow covered are the meadows around Hat River but open and fishing is good.

In the north districts trails are open up to the 9,000 foot elevation and fishing is good. Campgrounds are filling rapidly along Wood River. The road is still closed due to a snowslide between Dollarhide Summit and Warm Springs. Campgrounds at Hedfish Lake have been filled since Thursday.

Forest officials remind families all fireworks are prohibited in national forest areas.

Nixon increases merchant fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced Saturday the signing of $660 million in contracts for federally subsidized construction of 16 new Merchant Marine vessels in U.S. shipyards, including three super tankers which will be the largest ever to be built in the United States.

The contracts, signed Friday, will create 36,000 new jobs in the yards and related industries in three years and will help meet Nixon's goal "to restore the United States to the rank of a first class maritime power." The President said. The government will provide $284 million for the construction projects, representing a subsidy of 43 percent. The latest contracts bring to $1.1 billion the total of shipbuilding contracts signed since Nixon began a revitalization of the merchant fleet in 1970.

The contracts for 13 tankers and three freighters were signed with MEC-Boston Tankers, Inc., and Bethlehem Steel Corp. of Baltimore; Aeron Marine Shipping Co. and National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego; Sea Train Lines, Inc., and Sea Train Shipbuilding Corp. of Brooklyn, N.Y.; States Steamship Co. and Bath Ironworks Corp. of Bath, Maine; and Sea Service Tankers, Inc. and Todd Shipyards Corp. of San Pedro, Calif.

The MEC-Boston the Bethlehem contract calls for construction of three 265,000-ton tankers at a cost of $210.2 million. Bethlehem said the vessels, largest ever built in an American yard, will be longer than three football fields.

WASHINGTON — I am not quite ready to join in the hosannas chanted by President Nixon, most members of Congress and the academic community for those provisions of the omnibus education bill which in effect guarantee college education for everybody.

Perhaps it is irrelevant to point out that the bill will cost taxpayers an enormous amount of money. What should be material, however, is that the legislation is an invitation to fraud on the part of both colleges and universities and would-be scholars.

Because an institution's direct Federal subsidies of $100 to $500 per student will be tied to the number of students receiving Federal grants or loans, colleges and universities are expected to accept more low-income students. Academia likes money, too. But in vying for poor students, I fear that many institutions now severely strapped for funds will lower their standards to a point where, perhaps, any semi-mongoloid who has shown proficiency in finger painting will be admitted to matriculation.

Citing this possibility is not an exercise in hyperbole. The rush in recent years to embrace the policy of "open admission" especially in New York state — has littered colleges and universities with "students" found alarmingly deficient in grade-school arithmetic and even street-corner English. In many cases, notably at Washington's Federal City College, these "students" are permitted to graduate simply to get rid of them.

There is also something called Basic Educational Opportunity Grants. These offer students a maximum $14,000 annually based on family size and income. Since going to college beats working, you can be sure thousands of "poor" students will qualify for the maximum. Past experience in related welfare fields shows that when free dough is at stake, individuals are not above borrowing "families" to get in on the goodies.

Moreover, there already has been revealed a trend — no bigger than a kindergarten teacher's hand — to default on student loans. It involves the Guaranteed Student Loan Program, established in 1967, which now has disbursed $4.28 billion in 47 private loans. Under the program, a private lender advances up to $1500 a year to a student at 2 per cent interest, with the Federal or state government insuring the loan.

The loan is due nine to 12 months after the student leaves school, but he has 10 years to repay it, usually at the rate of $30 a month. If the student fails to meet his payments for 120 days, the loan is defaulted, the lender is reimbursed by the taxpayers and Washington is handed the problem of trying to collect the debt.

To be sure, loan defaulting so far is not alarming, but the trend is. Latest figures show 5.7 per cent in default, up from 3.5 per cent in six months. United Student Aid Funds, a nonprofit group, has a default rate of 5.8 per cent, and California's Bank of America says its delinquency rate is 12 per cent.

One problem, cited by Anthony M. Engels, a financial aid officer at the University of Illinois, is that many loans are not used to pay college bills. "I would guess," said Engels, "that these loans have bought more new cars than hours of academic credit." A federal study, still unpublished, contains instance after instance of college students who admitted using loans to buy drugs, liquor and to finance trips to rock festivals.

Robert Russo, an official of the Bank of America, reports: "One student graduated and didn't start paying the loan so we wrote a letter to him. All he did was send us a picture of himself huddled naked in some cave."

Now, obviously seeking the youth vote in a Presidential election year, Republicans and Democrats have increased the largesse offered to encourage kids to "continue" their "education." Idealistically, it's a splendid idea; a college education, after all, is still part of the American Dream, and colleges and universities even those that have deteriorated into anarchic playgrounds for problem brats — should not be the exclusive preserve of the well-to-do. But on this one the politicians may have sold the country the Brooklyn Bridge.

What's Andrus Hiding?

Rep. William Roberts, Buhl, was right when he questioned the right of Governor Andrus to block a request for an independent audit of the general fund agencies of the state.

It is our belief that it is a constitutional and a statutory right for the State Legislature to check the books of all state agencies — without asking permission. Yet when Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach sent auditors to the various agency officials with a request to certify the unpaid bills and undeposited revenue a "turn down" was made under orders from the Governor.

The Legislative Auditor made the request on behalf and at the suggestion of the Legislative Fiscal-Budget Committee. The reason for the audit, as stated, was to get a clearer picture of the true status of the general fund at the end of the fiscal year. The Governor, however, held this information would be compiled by each department and a printout of all the information would be forthcoming.

All this background maneuvering by Governor Andrus makes us wonder just what it is he has to hide. He termed the request a "political witch hunt." We ask him, since when can the right of the people to know how their money is being spent — or where it is — a witch hunt? The Governor said he would not permit Defenbach's auditors to disrupt the state's business on the last day of the fiscal year. What an excuse!

In Buhl, Rep. Roberts, usually a soft-spoken and quiet man, was really disturbed. He charged the Governor stepped over executive bounds in placing a block in the way of legislative business. He also said it has "long been the legislature's privilege of checking on receipts and expenditures inasmuch as it is the branch of government that makes the appropriations to the various state agencies."

The whole thing boils down to a point that indicates the Governor is trying to suppress the facts from the Legislature — and from the people who put up the money.

How else can you find out what is going on in government unless you look? How else unless you investigate?

There's no doubt that the Governor will see that a "printout" will be made available. But we would urge that the independent audit be carried out.

Like we asked — what is it that the Governor has to hide? If, in fact, he has nothing to hide then an independent audit should not disturb him.

Keep The Change

WASHINGTON — My friend Duncan is worried. "There is too much loose talk in this country lately about billions of dollars. Not very long ago, we talked about millions of dollars, but all of a sudden we lapsed into billions. No self-respecting politician now will ever mention a million when a billion will do."

"I guess," I told Duncan, "for the average person it doesn't make much difference. He's never seen a million dollars, and he's never seen a billion. As far as he's concerned they're interchangeable."

"That's just the point, no one has ever seen a billion dollars," Duncan said. "Not one of the men who has ever asked for a billion knows what it looks like. He rolls it off his tongue like he's talking about a dozen eggs. Until the people in power know what a billion dollars is, they will never stop playing with the taxpayers' money."

"But what's the solution?" I asked.

"I believe a law should be passed that says anyone in the government who asks for money for a project that costs over a billion dollars must personally count it by hand."

"You're out of your mind, Duncan."

"For example," he said, "Suppose Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird says he wants $10 billion for 10 new Trident submarines. Good. We tell him he can have it but he must take it in cash. Laird must go to a bank with a check from Congress and present it to the cashier. The cashier will hand it over to him in tens and twenties, and he will be required by law to make sure it is the correct amount."

After Laird finishes counting the Joint Chiefs of Staff would have to count it to make sure he didn't make a mistake. If Laird made a mistake he would have to count it all over again.

"He'd have his work cut out for him," I said.

"If a congressman asks for a billion dollars for an 'appropriations bill,' he would be required to count the money BEFORE proposing the bill," Duncan said.

"The money would be set aside in a vault on Capitol Hill and after the bill was passed each person who voted for it would have to count it. That means if 340 congressmen voted 'yea,' the money would have to be counted 340 times. If a congressman refused to count it, his vote would be considered invalid."

"That would be a lot of work during an election year," I said. "Tell me, would you ask the President of the United States to count out the 'billions' he requests in his budget?"

"Of course not," Duncan said. "The President's much too busy with other things. I think his wife and family should be required to count it for him."

"His wife and family?"

"Yes. Whenever the President figures out how much money he will need to run the country, Brink's trucks would bring it over to the White House in sacks and the President's wife and family could start counting in the upstairs quarters."

"I believe if a President saw his wife wearing green eye shades, sitting on the floor of the Lincoln bedroom counting billions of dollars, it would have a very sobering effect on him."

"Duncan, you have proposed a very radical solution, but I must admit it does have merit."

"I think," he said, "that once we start giving out our appropriations in cash instead of checks, a new era of fiscal responsibility will be upon us. All we have to say to the people in charge is, 'If you want the money' count it. And you'll see how fast all this loose talk about billions comes to a halt."

Trade Curbs

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Japanese government is deeply troubled over the continuing huge trade imbalance between itself and the United States. It fears new U.S. trade restrictions may come soon if ways are not found to narrow the gap.

A high Japanese official told me that most hope is placed in the idea of increasing Japan's imports from America, since that country's exports to us have remained high despite substantial changes in the current exchange rate and consequent price increases.

Amicable negotiations with U.S. officials go on steadily, but nothing has yet been worked out. The Japanese are even considering buying more American raw materials than they presently need and much are priming them here against future use.

The Japanese government is said to feel that wider "home front" consumption of U.S. products is a necessary step, but it is concerned at what it believes will be the inevitable slowness of such a move.

Though Japan has made progress in lowering tariff barriers, some still remain. And officials to take any course their reduction or removal is tightly entangled in internal Japanese politics.

The intensity of Japan's fears of losing the election to try to Minister Vato this July, Japan's squeeze down the embarrassing U.S. world trade deficit.

Cause Of Edema

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain "acute pulmonary edema." Does it have to do with the heart or the lungs? Can it happen again? I had an attack but don't understand what went on. — Mrs. C.B.T.

"Pulmonary" refers to the lungs. Therefore pulmonary edema means excess fluid accumulating in the tissues of the lungs. It is a severe congestion of the lungs.

It may be primarily an involvement of the lungs or it may be a result of weakening of the heart, so there is no categorical answer to your question of whether it has to do with heart or lungs.

From the heart standpoint, pulmonary edema can result from heart failure — that is, decreased pumping action of the heart because of damage to heart muscle or valves. Or it can come as the result of an acute heart attack which, of course, sharply reduces the heart's efficiency. The accompanying edema can be acute or chronic, depending on how it is brought on.

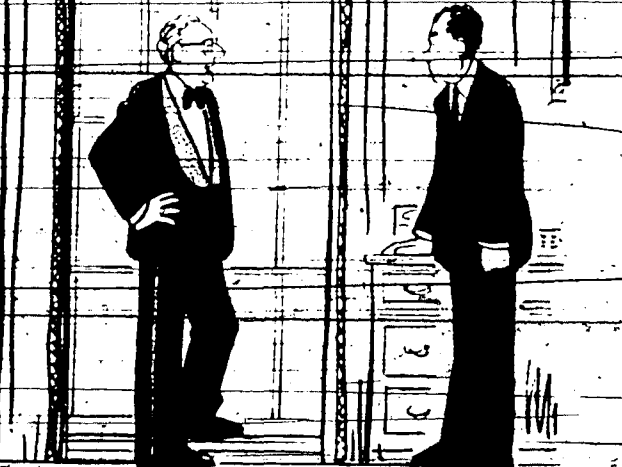

Whether acute or chronic, when the edema is the result of heart trouble, the essential explanation is that the heart is not pumping the blood in sufficient volume to carry away the excess fluid and dispose of it through the kidneys.

As I said, there are entirely different causes of pulmonary edema, too — extensive pneumonia, lung infection, inhalation of toxic fumes or smoke, severe chest injury, suppression of breathing from overdosage of morphine, barbiturates or other such drugs.

Oxygen is necessary during the acute attack, but one must not lose sight of the longer-range question. That is, what is the underlying cause and how can it be corrected. If the basic trouble is the heart, then heart treatment is the right course.

If the attack resulted from fumes, smoke or injury, but the heart is strong, the outlook for recovery is usually good, barring the possibility that the fumes or injuries have caused severe lung damage.

In that case one must guard against recurrence of the edema. The likelihood of recurrence, in general, however, is greater if heart failure is the basic cause.

A High Honor

Honors come to many people but a local youth — Airman First Class Kenneth E. Ehlers — has been named the Tactical Air Command Outstanding Intelligence Airman.

Young Ehlers — a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Ehlers, Route One, Twin Falls — is a graduate of the local high school and is now at Forbes Airforce Base at Topeka, Kansas.

Like we said, many awards go to many people, but when an airman is recognized command-wide for his outstanding work it becomes a different story. He has been weighed against not only the other men in his squadron or on his base, but against the command as a whole in his particular specialty.

In announcing the honor, Gen. William H. Momyer, Commander of TAC, said: "Airman Ehlers distinguished himself by a high degree of professionalism in his assignment as an intelligence specialist. Especially noteworthy were his development of a new format for the section's briefing slides, his initiative in maintaining them and his valuable contribution to the review and revision of the section's training briefings."

And, the General added that Airman Ehlers actually "looks for responsibility. He has all the capacity and capabilities of an officer."

So there you have it. We are sure his parents are proud of his accomplishments. And so are we. He's a credit to our community and we praise him for a job well done — and deserved.

THE HAVE-NOTS

New York Assemblyman Andrew Stein of Manhattan warns that the city is running out of taxpayers.

In 1960, he says, the ratio of taxpayers employed by private enterprise to the number of welfare recipients was 9.7 to 1. Today there are only 2.6 taxpayers to each welfare recipient in New York City.

If that 2.6 taxpayer would carry his full load, though, things wouldn't be too bad. Wonder how it is in Idaho?

No-Fault Insurance: Is It To Be Or Not To Be?

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Editor, Times-News

There is more talk about "no-fault" insurance than there is about the weather. So what is no-fault insurance? Well, that's a good question. We have in mind answers given by two different schools of thought on the question. The other day we received the thinking of Marvin E. Lewis, president of the American Trial Lawyers Association. It came to us through the Idaho Trial Lawyers Association of which James J. May of Twin Falls is president; Larry Duff of Rupert is secretary, and Lawrence H. Duffin of Burley is a state committeeman.

We, that same day, had noted in a wire story that President Nixon had also expressed an opinion on the subject. So we called the White House and an account of the President's opinion was airmailed to us post haste.

As a result we felt we had something to go on. On the one side the opinions of President Lewis and on the other the opinions of President Nixon.

Frankly we have formed no hard opinion on the subject so we scanned the material before us with interest. One result — we thought you might be interested, too, inasmuch as the whole thing is now before the U. S. Senate and will probably come before the various states in the not-toodistant future.

President Nixon described no-fault insurance as "an idea whose time has come" and said it was "a vast improvement over the present system."

On the other hand, President Lewis of the Lawyers Association said it would allow anyone to collect under no-fault including "the wanton drunk who causes an accident or the hopelessly hooked narcotics addict" and it also "blackmails the states into passing federal standards."

With this brief introduction, let's dig down into the "whys" of each statement.

First, the opinions of the President of the United States:

He said he has long supported the concept of no-fault automobile insurance as an important step toward genuine reform of the nation's automobile insurance system. However, because the regulation of automobile insurance has traditionally been the exclusive responsibility of the 50 states the President feels strongly that the job of fashioning and enacting such legislation should continue to be accomplished by the states — each drawing on the experience of the other, not the Federal government.

President Nixon says no-fault insurance should be enacted because it promises to reduce the costs to the consumers of basic auto insurance. He says the current system of compensation is a scandal. One out of four accident victims never gets a dime and the victim who gets paid has to wait an average of 15 months for compensation.

The President also contends that lawyers and others drain off more than half of the premium dollar, much of it because of protracted courtroom litigation.

The President said the concept has been gaining wide acceptance, despite the fact that some powerful groups — with a special interest in maintaining the present system — have arrayed themselves against reform.

The achievements of real automobile insurance through adoption of the no-fault principles would be a particularly effective way of demonstrating the responsiveness and farsightedness of State Governments, the President said. President Nixon also commended those states which already have moved on this important question. He urged that the other states, building on the experience gained so far, make the enactment of no-fault automobile insurance a matter of top consumer priority.

Next, the opinions of President Lewis of the Trial Lawyers Association:

He believes the bill now before the Senate may be unconstitutional and that no-fault insurance will mean an increase in premiums. This increase is attempted to be justified in order that the drunk, the dope addict and the wanton and negligent driver can collect at the expense of the innocent victim.

President Lewis contends the act contains a "potential porkbarrel" whereby two per cent of the premiums paid by the consumer are removed by the insurer right off the top with one per cent going to rehabilitation programs and one per cent going to rescue programs to provide helicopters and other rescue equipment. President Lewis contends this money could better be utilized as payment of damages or to lower the premium rates.

The act would also remove the right of the individual to sue except if a car hits "you that is not insured, or if the person who hits you is engaged in criminal conduct at the time, or if your property is damaged other than the motor vehicle in use, or if you die, or sustain permanent or significantly incapacitating loss of body function, or permanent serious disfigurement, or an injury resulting in more than six months of complete inability to work."

The bill would give the insurer the right to arbitrarily not renew a policy.

It would also force the insured (you) to collect from workmen's compensation insurance before no-fault begins paying.

President Lewis also contends the act sets a minimum limit of $75,000 total under the "horrible" part for loss of wages, medical, hospital and surgical bills when, in fact, studies show that in more than 90 per cent of injury cases, the total of all economic losses, including medical bills, is less than $1,000.

And, among other things, President Lewis contends that the no-fault bill provides unlimited liability payments for all property damage, including animals. He said that if you run over a little girl who is standing in front of a fence that surrounded a herd of prize-winning cattle, and badly hurt the girl, ruined the fence and broke a bull's leg, this would be the result:

Under the "monstrous" part of the bill, the girl would receive no money for damage to her body or mind and no money to her heirs if killed. Under the "horrible" part, however, the fence would be repaired under money paid by the insurance company and the farmer could collect untold dollars for the bull's broken leg.

"The issue is broader than it appears," President Lewis said. "There is an attack on the courts and the lawyers. Is no-fault saying the judge and jury system is no longer of any use in determining who a wrong doer is and how much, or what, the aggrieved is to get for being an innocent victim or wronged? Soon we will only have the insurance industry as judge and jury and the wolves will be watching the sheep."

Presidents Of Manifest Destiny

MILLARD FILLMORE
Thirteenth President
(Administration: July 10, 1850-March 2, 1852)

EAST WHIG AND FIRST "KNOW-NOTHING"

History has not been kind to Millard Fillmore, the nation's second "secondhand" President. Indeed, so critical has been the verdict of historians on the status of the last Whig President and first "Know-Nothing" candidate that it is necessary to remember that historians are tyrannized by facts and that historical facts are usually compromises on the part of both actors and narrators.

It was his signing of that melange of socio-economic facts known as the "Compromise of 1850" that sounded the political death knell for President Fillmore. Nor was this unusual, for so explosive was the national mood on slavery that any President would have been crucified for signing the so-called "amiable" bill, a crazy quilt of self-serving notions which transformed what should have been primarily a moral issue for all Americans into a partisan political issue for a few power-hungry men and split the nation down the middle like a butchered hog.

Although the "Compromise of 1850" was the most destructive and shortest-lived congressional compromise in American history, it was sponsored by such eminent statesmen as Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Stephen Douglas and Lewis Cass. Even the great advocate of State's rights, John C. Calhoun, was willing to compromise to the extent of having dual Presidents, one for the North, another for the South.

But above all, the compromise was the proudest work of the Great Pacificator, Henry Clay, and Clay not only was President Fillmore's longtime idol, he was also the leader of Fillmore's party. There was, then, nothing unusual about a Whig President signing a bill that Whig stalwarts, Clay and Webster thought was the best possible under the circumstances. What was remarkable was that Fillmore ever got to be President in the first place.

Millard Fillmore's life had all the essentials of a Horatio Alger story: an impoverished childhood, a devoted mother, a humbling father, pluck, a scrooge, a village benefactor and a devoted sweetheart who remained true blue unto death. The "significant other" in Fillmore's life, Abigail Powers, a local schoolteacher, met him when he was 19, directed his education, had almost no formal schooling at all, encouraged him to study law and married him when he was 26 and she was 27.

Despite the up-and-down pattern, that characterized his life, the civic-minded, personable and conservative Fillmore had risen to the chairmanship of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, in Tyler's Administration. He retired from Congress in 1843 because of dissatisfaction with President Tyler's policies, and unsuccessfully sought the governorship of New York and the vice presidential nomination the following year. However, in 1848 he was the Whig vice presidential nominee, assuming the Presidency when President Taylor died after 16 months in office.

There had been fear that President Taylor might veto the compromise bill, but President Fillmore signed the measures with satisfaction, believing that the bill constituted a "final settlement" of the slavery issue. Nevertheless, two of the laws lowered his popularity: the admission of California as a Free State hurt him in the South, and Northerners bitterly resented being held accountable for returning runaway slaves under the Fugitive Slave Law.

"This filthy enactment was made in the 19th century," Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "by people who could read and write. I will not obey it, by God!"

In the fall before the gathering storm, Fillmore's Presidency was relatively uneventful. California joined the Union as the 31st state, Washington Territory was created out of part of Oregon and Commodore Matthew Perry was sent by Fillmore to open the ports of Japan to American commerce.

Defeated for renomination in 1852 by Gen. Winfield Scott, Fillmore's career hit rock bottom in 1856 when he got only Maryland's electoral votes as the presidential nominee of both the Whigs and the anti-Catholic, anti-immigrant "Know-Nothings."

More successful as a man than he was as a President, Millard Fillmore's life was characterized by courage, modesty and frankness. While visiting England, the ex-President declined to accept an honorary doctorate on the grounds that his accomplishments did not merit such an honor. Upon his death, Alexander H. Stephens, conciliatory Vice President of the Confederacy, paraphrasing a remark made by Christ about Nathaniel, wrote of Fillmore: "There indeed is a man in whom is no guile."

In these times, when the presidential "credibility gap" seems to grow ever wider and deeper, such a tribute is of more significance than a presidential ranking of "great."

Editor, Times-News:

In the contention as to the effect of DDT on human health it seems appropriate to suggest that a little basic honesty enter into the claims and counter-claims that befog the issues.

Of all the weasel words used in the press and by the legal profession the most common are "May and Alleged." What should be a statement of fact, prefaced by "may" and "alleged," gets an idea or happening before the public without exposing the party to direct commitment. In a controversy that involves millions of people only proven facts should be considered. The recent ban on usage of DDT in the US is a case in point.

Over this desk has come such material as to cause doubts as to the motives of those entrusted with the health and well being of the public.

First is a statement credited to the Geigy Agricultural Chemical Corp. "DDT has almost NO proven harmful effects on man. There is no safer residual insecticide known for use around man."

From the Library of Congress comes these statistics: "Previous to the ban on DDT usage, over 170 million tons are used for specific purposes. The balance is exported to foreign nations for control of insects and disease causing parasites."

Interesting to know that what MAY be harmful to an American will promote good health in a Filipino or a Hindu. Or in the dividends of a manufacturer.

Over the years since World War II the US has poured hundreds of millions of tons of food and hundreds of millions of dollars into India to avert wholesale starvation. Today India is becoming largely self supporting. Why? Because of massive usage of DDT in crop production. Since 1954 the life expectancy of an Indian has risen from 32 years to 55 years due primarily to control of disease bearing insects and greater and more healthful food supplies. The government of India calls it their "green revolution."

There can be no intent here to advocate usage of any substance that might injure the health of one person. But it is time we knew the truth and accepted it. And there is something in the Good Book about a brother's keeper. By some feeble line of reasoning it seems that a chemical that harms (allegedly or maybe) a resident or bird within the US would harm a man or bird in India or Brazil. Would it not follow that if the H.F.W. is so piously protecting the lives of Americans they are equally callous toward the welfare of innocent and uneducated peoples in other lands? Or (perish the thought) does foreign trade play a part in such decisions?

Until such time we can be assured of a truth in this "off again on again" plaything of bureaucracy we should avoid unwise legislation or regulations based on either a chemical manufacturer or a Research Lab in some University. One striving to sell and the other playing for greater Federal grants.

We cannot discount possibilities but basic determination should be made in incidents of cancer, ulcers or mental disorder to discover whether the cause was a minute trace of growth stimulant, the sprays used to preserve our food supply and our forests or the amounts of chemicals taken every day in the form of diet pills, appetizers, sleeping pills, tranquilizers, pep stimulants that are gulped by the millions of tons every day.

An example of the eager beaver tactics used by some on the payroll of H.F.W. The headline "CANCER INCITING HORMONE IN BEEF SUPPLY" caused great excitement and contributed to the decline in meat sales in 1970. Now according to the National Meat and Livestock Board their chemists have determined that a person would have to eat 7333 pounds of meat each day to equal the dosage safely prescribed for women. According to them a dosage of 2 mgm. daily of this estrone hormone is often found in prescriptions.

At most only 100 parts per billion was discovered in 0.6 percent of the carcasses tested. Enough to cause headlines and jitters among these who wouldn't know a hormone from a hoop skirt.

You will notice that most of releases and rules laid down by those who handle the publicity are prefaced by "IT MAY" or "IT IS ALLEGED." Lets have the truth.

Editor, Times-News:

Another election year is upon us and quite naturally we look to the national figures. This is great and it must be done but there are some important local items we should also pay close attention to. The office of Sheriff of Twin Falls County, for instance, Sheriff Paul Corder is not one to blow his own horn but there are a number of things to be brought to the attention of the voting public.

The remodeling of the county jail complex, the extensive training program for his deputies, his conservative administration of the funds of the office just to mention a few.

There are many others to take into consideration such as his excellent credit standing, unimpeachable moral standing, devotion to duty and the welfare of the community, and stability. Paul Corder has devoted 22 years to this community in police work. He is not one to jump from place to place as his mood or the more attractive salaries may take him.

In view of the above, I would suggest that we make a comparison to the record of his opponent in the upcoming primary. I don't know much about the opponent except from hearsay but in my opinion it would take quite a man to measure up to the one we have in the office now. Taking point by point I doubt very much if his opponent can measure up. I suggest the voters check.

I was approached in May of 1971 with several claims of discrepancies and faults in the office of the prosecutor and the sheriff, so over a period of five months, I nosed around, snooped in the jail, talked to former prisoners and even went so far as to nose into some of Mr. Corder's personal activities. During this period, I found these claims to be false, half truths and clear distortion of existing facts. The attempts of some offended parties to get even for some reason or other or to disrupt the functions of the offices mentioned or to promote ill feeling for political reasons.

None of the charges for either office were justified. For qualification, I have held a Certificate of Proficiency in Investigation Procedure since 1952. I personally feel that Paul Corder is a professional of the highest quality and standard and the results of my investigation will bear me out.

No Candidate

Editor, Times-News:

I appreciate the honor given me by the American Party in suggesting my name as a United States representative from Congressional District 2, at the State Convention in Burley Saturday June 24. It came as a surprise as I was not at the convention and I am not a party member. Nor am I a candidate for the suggested office.

I have been aware of the organization and progress of the American Party and have the greatest respect for the principles of freedom and liberty upon which it stands. A third party may possibly provide a fresh approach to the difficult problems that face our nation, and has a place in our political system.

I shall be interested to see the course the party takes in providing answers to our political problems. It is a new party, free of binding traditions and previous political commitments, a party that will provide another voice for the American People, and will hopefully develop a strong leadership away from a welfare state and toward greater support of the Constitution as it was intended to be interpreted by our founding fathers.

It's Well Put

Editor, Times-News:

Your editorial of June 18, entitled "Question of Age" is well put.

However, you overlooked a critical objection to Mr. Wagner's argument. It has been shown on many occasions that the seniority system is the major blockade to effective Congressional action on the problems which afflict us. The current line of initiative activities and the usurpation of the war-making powers by the executive should attest to this congressional paralysis.

The most powerful committees in the House — the Rules Committee and the Appropriations Committee — have been controlled for years by the same old men (65 to 80). In addition, smaller committees have suffered from the same problem. These old men are all Democrats and from small southern rural areas, where the possibility of re-election is certain.

Because of the seniority system these men hold virtually dictatorial power through their control of the flow of legislation and the control of debate.

Although Democrat in party, they are all very conservative, contrary to the Democratic Party national platform on most crucial bills.

By pigeon-holing they have virtually frozen the hands of the legislative branch.

The seniority system is not sacred, or even particularly historical. Indeed, it was begun in 1902. Numerous replacement proposals have come up, such as a rotating chairmanship or by having the Speaker appoint the chairmen. This latter idea could make the speakers a powerful political figure with identifiable responsibilities. Such a system has worked in California's star-studded legislature for some time. But no politician will vote against a "ladder" on which he has climbed part way to the power at the top.

It is therefore up to the voters to strike down the dead wood of seniority. Candidates such as Dr. Wagner, pledged to this system, should be defeated at the polls.

Demos go to court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorneys for rival claimants to 59 Chicago seats at the Democratic National Convention went to the Supreme Court Saturday with their dispute over Mayor Richard J. Daley's bloc of uncommitted delegates.

The convention credentials committee voted Friday to unseat Daley and his 58 followers and to replace them with a challenging group. At least 40 of the insurgents are expected to support the front runner, Sen. George S. McGovern.

For the challengers, Mary Lee Leahy, and for the Daley bloc, Jerome Torschen, appeared Saturday afternoon before Justice William H. Rehnquist at a private hearing in his chambers.

Before their move, spokesmen for the challengers said they were seeking Supreme Court action to stop a Daley suit in Chicago aimed at blocking the challengers in the Cook County Circuit Court.

A federal district court in Chicago had halted that action, but a three-judge panel of the Court of Appeals held Thursday that the Daley delegation could go ahead with its injunction effort.

The challengers wanted the Supreme Court to overturn the Chicago Court of Appeals decision so the district court action would stand.

Previously, the Daley delegates obtained a ruling from the federal District Court in Washington that the challengers were acting illegally under the Illinois primary law. The Court of Appeals here overturned that decision but said the delegates could return after Credentials Committee action.

McGovern to unveil changes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern is planning to unveil major changes this week in his income redistribution plan—a controversial proposal that has left him at odds with old-line Democratic party regulars.

Advance indications were that McGovern's original proposal to give every man, woman and child in the nation $1,000 or more every year will be changed into a complex system of income tax credits. That would eliminate the possibility of millionaires and their hired help being all on the same dole.

Other major changes were expected to eliminate more tax loopholes and shelters so the general tax rate on upper-income people would not have to be raised to "soak the rich" levels.

But McGovern's aides insisted the front-running Democratic presidential hopeful is not backing down, and all he is doing is putting the plan he outlined last December into specifics.

Panama turns down proposal

BOISE (UPI) — Boise Cascade officials say the revolutionary government in Panama has turned down corporation proposals to end the government occupation of Panama Power and Light Co., a 90 per cent owned subsidiary of the company.

Panama Power and Light operates the electric, telephone and gas utilities serving Colon and Panama City. Boise Cascade's investment in it is $30 million.

The governor seized the utility June 1, saying it would be expropriated if Boise Cascade did not agree to certain conditions.

The key issue between the company and the government is said to be the government's insistence that Panama Power and Light undertake a $55 million capital investment program, while expressing its unwillingness to offer Boise Cascade a contract to assure an economic basis for allowing the capital program to proceed.

Hear debate

THE DEMOCRATIC Credentials Committee voted to deny national convention seats to a 59-member delegation headed by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley Friday. Listening to debate on the challenge is Daley's son, Michael, who tried to gain support for his father. (UPI)

McGovern threatens to run as independent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern warned in an interview published Saturday that if he is denied the Democratic presidential nomination "by an illegitimate power play" he will run as an independent or support another independent candidate to spoil the chances of the Democratic nominee.

McGovern said in the interview in Life magazine he believed he had earned the nomination and "if a bunch of old established politicians gang up to take it from him he will repudiate the whole process."

The South Dakota senator earlier this week blasted as "an incredible, cynical, rotten political steal" the decision by the Democratic Convention's Credentials Committee taking away 153 of the 271 California delegates he won in the state's winner-take-all primary. The delegates were considered crucial to McGovern's chances for a first ballot nomination.

"I think I have come to the point now where I have earned the nomination," he said in the interview. "And if a bunch of old established politicians gang up to prevent me from getting the nomination because I didn't come to them for help—just a negative, spiteful movement that subverts the democratic process—if I feel that has happened, then I will not let them get away with it."

"There's been so much hard work and emotion poured into the campaign by so many thousands of people—it would be such an infuriating, disillusioning experience for them all—that I would repudiate the whole process," he said.

"I would run as an independent or support somebody else on an independent ticket. So if I'm denied the nomination by an illegitimate power play, that nomination will not be worth anything to the person who gets it."

McGovern said he was convinced in early 1969 when he won the nomination that he could

Examine tank

SOUTH VIETNAMESE airborne troops examine remains of destroyed North Vietnamese T-48 tank Friday complete with a skull which belonged to one of its occupants. American warplanes attacked Communist defenses in Quang Tri Province again Saturday, but heavy rains slowed a South Vietnamese ground advance toward the provincial capital. (UPI)

Rains bog down drive

By STEWART KELLERMAN SAIGON (UPI) — Torrential rains bogged down a giant South Vietnamese push to recapture Quang Tri City from the North Vietnamese Saturday, and Viet Cong guerrillas closed in on a provincial capital only a three-hour drive from Saigon.

UPI Correspondent Barney Seibert, reporting from the northern front, said the tropical rain brought South Vietnam's 20,000-man Quang Tri campaign virtually to a halt.

Tanks and trucks sank into the mud. Government marines and paratroopers engaged in the four-day-old drive tried to jump dry under tents made of ponches. Seibert said North Vietnamese artillery however laid down heavy barrages against Highway 1 from the My Chanh River northern defense line to Quang Tri City, 12 miles to the north.

The Communists were apparently trying to stop government troops from filling the hundreds of shell holes in the highway, the only paved road in the area, Seibert said.

South Vietnamese paratroopers had advanced Friday to the outskirts of Quang Tri, the only one of the 44 provincial capitals captured by the Communists during their three-month-old offensive.

South Vietnamese marines reported killing 34 Communists early Saturday in a battle seven miles northeast of Quang Tri. Before the heavy rains came. One marine was wounded.

The government reported 484 Communists killed in the four days of the drive. There were 36 South Vietnamese dead and 149 wounded.

U.S. warships under Commander Dewey destroyed a Spanish fleet in Manila Bay May 1, 1898.

Bomb said cause of jet crash

SAIGON (UPI) — Investigations are "definitely positive" that a bomb tore apart the Cathay Pacific Airways Convair 440 jetliner which crashed June 15 in the Central Highlands of South Vietnam, killing all 81 persons aboard, aviation sources said Saturday.

The source said arrests had yet to be made that a suspect was being watched by airline agents and police.

Sources close to Cathay Pacific said airlines investigators believed the bomb was planted in the plane so someone could collect flight insurance on one of the passengers when it crashed.

They would not say exactly how the investigators determined that an in-flight explosion caused the crash, but said they were "definitely positive it was a bomb."

In-flight collision and Communist antiaircraft fire had been ruled out as possible causes of the tragedy early in the investigation.

It was the worst civilian airline disaster in South Vietnamese history.

Kindergarten classes to continue in Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced Friday that the public kindergarten program in which a number of Idaho school districts have been participating during the past year will be continued during the next year.

Andrus said that although he does not have a final figure on what Idaho's allocation will be under the emergency employment act of 1971 — the source of funds for the program — he has been assured that funding will be maintained at least at last year's level.

Idaho benefits hiked

BOISE (UPI) — Beginning July 2, the maximum weekly unemployment benefit will increase to $68 from $65.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said Friday in accordance with the Idaho Employment Security

Law, the maximum benefit is computed annually, reflecting the increase in average weekly wage in the state and is designed to compensate for increases in the cost of living.

Valley Briefs

SHOSHONE — Randall C. Berriochoa and Victoria E. Bozzuto were on the dean's list for the second semester at Idaho State University, Pocatello. Miss Bozzuto is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bozzuto, Shoshone, and is Mrs. Carlos Berriochoa Jr., Shoshone.

SHOSHONE — Sgt. Randy Hall and Airman 1C Rick Hall are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hall, Shoshone.

Randy is stationed at Altus Air Force Base, Okla., and will be home until July 14. Rick is stationed at a radar site at King Salmon, Alaska. He is on leave until July 20.

Idaho potential scored

MOSCOW (UPI) — A visiting professor from the University of California at Santa Barbara said Friday that Idaho had the potential in the 1970's to become part of the California-Colorado Urbanization Progression.

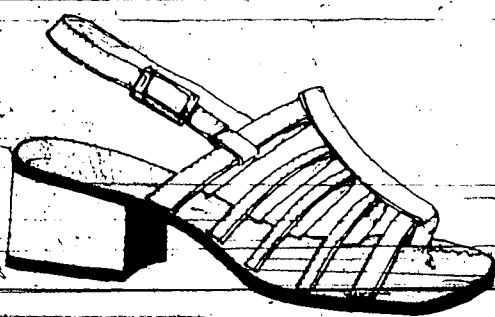

Dr. Peter F. Mason, an associate professor of geography visiting the University of Idaho, said that the urbanization progression began in California in the 1950's with the construction of roads, bridges and dams and recreational land speculation, in the state's wild areas such as the Sierra Nevada.

However, he said that overpopulation in that state led to the discovery of Colorado in the 1960s and that state made the urban transition through massive ski resorts.

Now, said Dr. Mason, the state of Idaho has the potential to be discovered in this decade, and that even the severe climate and relative isolation will not spare the Gem State from the urban transition.

Along the trail

REDFISH LAKE — In the freshness of mid-morning, a family of campers sets out along a trail climbing a ridge flanking this Sawtooth Mountain lake.

Their goal is indefinite — to see where the trail goes, what vistas it opens, enjoyment of a day in the woods and the clear, clean air of the high mountains.

The trail winds along the crest of the ridge, alternately offering views of lakes and peaks beyond, or of a green valley and a distant range of snow-streaked crests.

Tempering the enjoyment of the outing are occasional steep and breath-draining ascents, hordes of voracious mosquitoes and a slender lunch originally intended as a midday snack.

But a more lasting result of the trip will be memories of the hike and a kindling of interest which will see the family back on other mountain trails whenever the opportunity beckons.

TF miss, Butler exchange promises

TWIN FALLS — Lynn Summerfield and Roy G. Butler were married in a June 27 candlelight service at the Twin Falls First United Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert Morris before a background of baskets of white peonies and blue delphinium with blue candles.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. R.L. Summerfield and the late R.L. Summerfield, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Olin Rytting.

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard E. Summerfield, the bride designed and made her own wedding dress. The white crepe gown featured an empire waistline and long sleeved Eton jacket.

Her chapel train was edged with white re-embroidered scroll lace. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a Juliet cap of matching crepe and lace.

She carried a bouquet of small chrysanthemums, baby roses and lilies of the valley, made for her by Mrs. J.A. Clawson, aunt of the bridegroom. Mrs. Clawson prepared all the floral arrangements.

Mrs. Sidney G. Baker, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Betsy Summerfield, sister of the bride, Jane Bradley and Arlene Blass.

Steven Butler, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were David Butler, brother of the bridegroom, Larry Stamps and Howard Elliott, cousin of the bride.

Kyle Buky and Karen Buky, cousins of the bride, were ringbearer and flower girl. Robert Summerfield Jr., brother of the bride, and Douglas Halpin, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters.

Sidney Baker, the bride's brother-in-law, provided special cello music.

The bride and bridegroom were honored at a garden buffet immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride's table was placed on the patio and covered with a lace cloth from England, a gift from the bride to her mother. The four-tiered wedding cake was iced in white and trimmed with blue roses and topped with white sugar wedding bells. It was flanked with silver candleabra holding blue and white candles.

Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Edwin Buky, Mrs. R.R. Halpin and Mrs. K.W. Elliott, all aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Max Dwyer, Mrs. Kathleen Fahrenholtz, Mrs. Jack Clawson and Mrs. Jack Lund, all aunts of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Harvey M. Cook assisted at the buffet table.

Guest tables in the yard were decorated with streamers of ivy and roses.

Guests were registered at a table covered with a white tulle overskirt and trimmed with blue ribbons and lilies of the valley. It was centered with syringa blossoms and blue forget-me-nots. Mrs. Marvin Hansen, Sandy, Utah, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. John Carter and Mrs. David Butler, sister and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, cared for the gifts.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother and grandfather, Mr. and Mrs. G.R. Halpin, Idaho Falls; Mrs. Charles Murphey and Mrs. Harold Lancaster, Springfield, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Halpin, Pocatello, great-aunts and uncles of the bride. Other guests attended from Bixby, Miss.; Sandy and Salt Lake City, Utah; Idaho Falls; Charlotte, N.C.; Ketchum, Twin Falls; Kimberly, Buhl, Filer and McCall.

A kitchen shower was hosted by Mrs. John Bradley and her daughter, Jane.

Folk medicine

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—An attempt to find and classify medicinal plants used in folk medicine in parts of Texas and Mexico is being made by Dr. Clarissa T. Kimber, Texas A&M Foundation at College Station. The search is supported by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Such plants, believed to be among the first used in medicine on this continent, now are becoming extinct. Some medicinal plants used in folk medicine centuries ago and then ignored have been found to yield drugs useful in modern medicine. An example is Rauwolfia, a plant whose roots produce reserpine, an important tranquilizer and hypertensive agent.

A feminine, fluid line emerges in this classic silhouette that features a fitted long torso, topstitched with yoke detail and pleats that move with the figure. This printed pattern is short-sleeved or sleeveless. Back zipper. To make in linen, jersey or a blend.

Price $1.00 — F-650 is available in NEW sizes 10, 12, 14, 16. Size 14 takes 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch fabric with sleeves and 3 yards without sleeves.

Standard body measurements for size 14 are: Bust 36, Waist 27, Hips 38 (NEW SIZING)

Tip on suntanning

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some persons claim that mineral oil or baby oil mixed with iodine makes a good suntan lotion. In a pamphlet on "Sun and Your Skin" the American Medical Association comments on suntan lotion by saying: "The fact is that these preparations do not contain sunscreens and therefore will not promote tanning or prevent burning. Their only benefit is that they provide lubrication to cut down on the drying effects of the sun."

No marriage plans

By MARGARET SAVILLE LONDON (UPI)—Evidently Princess Anne has no immediate marriage plans because she's having her suite at Buckingham Palace modernized and redecorated according to her own ideas.

Apart from her riding, Anne much prefers London life to the country and spends more time at the Palace than any other member of the family.

She's having a turquoise and dark brown and soft green scheme, with streamlined wall fittings inspired by those lining the walls in Prince Philip's study. There it be a special corner for her huge collection of model horses, which she started as a child.

The four-roomed apartment on the second floor comprises sitting room, bedroom and bathroom and a small room with a round table that serves for meals or for Anne and her secretary to deal with her correspondence.

Library receives volume

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Affon Welker presented volume 13 of "Our Pioneer Heritage" to the Twin Falls Public Library. It was announced Friday.

Mrs. Welker is president of the Twin Falls County company of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. She was assisted in making the presentation by Mrs. Ludema Davis, historian of the organization.

Arlan Call, librarian, accepted the volume in behalf of the library.

The national organization of the DUP searches out, clarifies and preserves pioneer history, saving knowledge which otherwise might be lost.

Manuscripts are edited by Kate B. Carter, president, in the central office of the DUP, Salt Lake City. Three sets of books have been completed, "Heart Throbs of the West," 12 volumes; "Treasures of Pioneer History," six volumes, and "Our Pioneer Heritage," 13 volumes. Copies of all of these volumes have been presented to the Twin Falls Public Library by the local company of DUP.

Book added

Current Cues

By HELEN WALKER
TWIN FALLS — "Don't worry about a thing, ma'am. It's guaranteed."

"Great," you think, "no worries. I'll buy it. After all, if anything goes wrong, it's guaranteed."

But guaranteed for what? Parts and labor? What parts and for how long?

According to "Consumer Line," published by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, the warranty conditions should be one of the most important factors in your decision to buy a certain brand of appliance.

Don't be misled by such claims as a "lifetime" guarantee. Ask the salesman to explain the terms of the guarantee and read the fine print. Industry home economists suggest you ask these questions:

No. 1. What parts are covered and for how long?

No. 2. Is labor covered? For how long?

No. 3. Who stands behind the warranty — the manufacturer or the dealer?

No. 4. If a dealer goes out of business, be sure you aren't without a warranty.

No. 5. Is the warranty in effect if you move?

No. 6. Do you need to mail registration card (some have a deadline for mailing) or save your sales receipt?

No. 7. Must you mail a defective part somewhere to get warranty coverage? If yes, who pays for the charge of removing, replacing and mailing the defective part?

No. 8. Must an authorized agent do the work? If yes, what is his address and phone number?

There are certain conditions under which the warranty does not apply. These, of course, differ from brand to brand, but some are standard.

Warranties usually do not cover damage due to acts of abuse. If your three-year-old breaks the dryer door hinge by swinging on it, don't expect the warranty to pay for the damage. The appliance must also be used according to the directions in the owner's manual.

If you turn a timer dial in the wrong direction and break a spring, the warranty probably won't cover it. The warranty may not pay for malfunctioning due to inadequate house wiring or plumbing or failure to follow installation instructions.

A Lovelier You

QUESTIONS ON REDUCING

By Mary Sue Miller

With bare summer fashions in the offing, it seems lovelies have become extra figure-conscious. Letters from them are packed with reducing questions. Those most often recurring are answered below, for the benefit of all would-be reducers. You maybe!

Do you recommend 800-calorie diets? No, not even when a woman is desperate to lose weight in a hurry. The safe allotment is 1200 to 1500 calories per day. Diets with fewer calories must be supervised by a doctor.

How much weight can be lost per week by following a 1200-calorie diet? Two pounds, up to 10 pounds in a month. Losing less, a dieter is either snitching or should see a doctor.

Would cutting out bread and potatoes speed reducing? Let's look at it this way: On the long haul, reducers need some carbohydrates to maintain energy — the energy to diet. One or two slices of whole-grain bread per day and two or three baked potatoes per week are desirable. It's butter that makes those foods weighty. Use a minimum of fats — 1 tablespoon a day.

Just how many calories does frying add to food? Up to a third or more.

Are there any calorie-free foods? Foods, no. Drinks, yes — water, plain tea, black coffee and no-cal colas.

Plainly, a lovely could lose a great deal of weight before summer, if she starts immediately to eat wisely.

Book Review

By MARY ALICE FLORENCE

Twin Falls Public Library

TWIN FALLS — Boys and girls have a treat in store at the Twin Falls Public Library. It is the new book by Zilpha Keatley, "The Headless Cupid."

Like her very popular "The Egypt Game" and "Eyes in the Fishbowl," this book deals with the supernatural. But, unlike the big city background of the first two, "The Headless Cupid" takes place in an old house in the country, and it should be easier for children in this area to relate to the story.

David, who is 11, and his younger brother and two little sisters have just moved into an old farm house with their father and new stepmother, Molly, their father's new wife, is truly fond of the children and they like her, too. But no one was really prepared for Amanda!

Amanda was Molly's only child from an unhappy marriage and she was a student of the occult. She arrived at the farm wearing her ceremonial costume and carrying a crown named Rolor. Rolor was her familiar—for the uninitiated, a familiar is usually an animal companion used by a witch to make contact between this world and the supernatural world.

When David first met Amanda, he wondered how she managed to look so bored and disgusted without so much as winking a muscle in her deadpan mask. But, because he had promised his dad that he would do his best to make Amanda part of the family, he decided to go along with her when she offered to make him and the others her novices.

Amanda led the children through a week-long series of tests which had to be completed before they could become members of the occult world. The first ordeal proved to be a very funny part of the story.

For a whole day, they couldn't wear or let anything made of metal touch their skin. David thought this sounded easy enough, until he realized they couldn't even touch faucets or silverware. And all this had to be accomplished without letting Dad or Molly know what was taking place.

As the week went on, things became less funny and more mysterious. David began to wonder if there really could be a poltergeist in the old house.

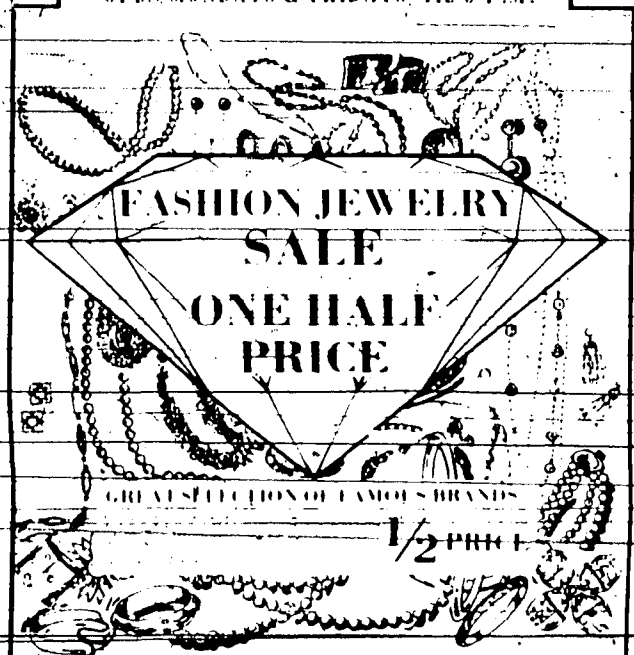

Amanda spent many hours at the public library in town reading old issues of the local newspaper. She told the children stories she read about a ghost who made strange noises and lived in the house long ago. Could that ghost really have taken the wooden head from one of the cupids who formed a part of the beautiful old carved stairway in the house? David thought (and the reader will, too) he had everything explained. Then just one more little incident left him wondering about their poltergeist and the headless cupid.

Fancy That

By Norma Herzinger

TWIN FALLS — I can usually take a joke as well as the next guy. But, Monday night's practical joker did not leave me laughing. All mornings at my house are hectic, but Tuesday was an exception from the moment I got out of bed. (Which isn't an easy job lately with this large cast on my leg.)

I finally managed to get my early morning chores done and with 10 minutes to spare, walked out of the front door (with the help of my youngest daughter, Susan, carrying my clip board and purse) to go to work.

I commented on the way to the car I sure hoped it was sitting in a hole, otherwise there must be a flat tire. One flat tire I could have taken in my stride, but two!

I told Susan to run back into the house and get Vicki, my No. 1 daughter, so she could drive me to work. Now, at this point ordinarily everything would have been right back on schedule and I still would have made it to work on time.

But as we walked to her car we discovered three flat tires. By this time it was obvious someone was trying to be funny, although the hilarity escaped me completely.

I finally bummed a ride to work with a fellow worker and made arrangements for someone to fix the tires. The repair man got to my house, he said he had already fixed 20 flat tires in the Sunrise Boulevard area and just looking around one could see that all my neighbors would be repairing tires, too.

I've never been able to understand what kind of person would deliberately damage other people's property. A petty form of vandalism, yet the inconvenience caused to so many people was tremendous — to say nothing of the money for the repairman. It was such a senseless thing for the pranksters to do — but aren't all crimes senseless?

The Bureau of Advertising says buyers in New York for Seventh Avenue's fall collections are confident that the dress business could pick up if producers would give them salable dresses.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that the last one in the family to be married is the one who has to take the widowed mother in? I have had my mother in law for 20 years, and not one of the others will offer to take her even for a few days.

I am a nervous wreck. I can never have a private conversation with my husband unless we go into our bedroom, and whisper so she can't hear us.

I can't even go shopping unless Mamma goes along for the ride. We haven't had a vacation in 20 years without her.

My husband tells me that I will get my reward in heaven, but I can't wait that long.

TIED

DEAR TIED: Tell your husband you have earned a little "heaven on earth," and to figure out a way to give you a preview.

DEAR ABBY: When a couple gets a divorce, who gets the bride's wedding rings? (My set costs $900).

My husband is financially secure enough, but claims he cannot afford alimony. He takes home a minimum of $160 a week, but it's usually more because of overtime.

I make $40 a week take home. I also have multiple sclerosis and have a heavy medical expense. I can't get a better paying job because of my physical handicap. Besides, I had enough trouble getting this one.

There is also the question of wedding gifts. We received linens, silver, kitchen appliances, good china, etc. Almost everyone on my side of the family gave us money for a wedding gift (now long spent, of course). His side gave us mostly gifts. Who should get them? I imagine a lawyer could settle this, but I would like your sincere opinion.

FINANCIALLY HURTING

DEAR HURTING: My sincere opinion is that you should get everything you're legally entitled to, that's why I suggest you ask your lawyer for a legal opinion.

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a fellow who was turned down when he asked a girl for a goodnight kiss on the first date. He said he was glad that turned down didn't prevent him from asking that girl for another date.

I have been dating a girl for six months, and I am proud to say that so far all she's given me is a goodnight kiss at the door.

She's a very special young lady who shuns X-rated movies, Go-Go bars, and parking. I admire her greatly for her high moral standards. She has a good head on her shoulders, thinks for herself and conducts herself like a lady at all times. Some day she'll make some lucky man (hopefully me) a fine wife.

I have a great deal of respect for her, and I think I love her. And I thank her parents (and mine) for raising us as they did.

I am 19 and have a whole lifetime ahead of me to experience and enjoy the deeper emotions, and I intend to wait until I have earned that privilege.

No need to use fake initials. If that girl sees this letter and knows I wrote it, it will prepare her for what I hope to tell her soon.

L. G. R. TRENTON, MICHIGAN

DEAR L. G. R.: What a refreshing letter.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I invited two couples to our home for dinner one night last week. One couple had been married for five years, and the other couple was engaged.

Before dinner, both couples were in each other's arms, off and on, kissing passionately. Now, Abby, I have no objections to couples showing affection to each other, but they really acted like they were all alone.

I am not an old prude myself. I'm 25, have been married for four years, and I love my husband every bit as much as either of those girls love their guys, but I think there's a time and place for everything.

Once, I jokingly said, "Okay, kids, knock it off." My husband gave me a dirty look, and after they left he lectured me.

Was I wrong, Abby? Please tell me. That one couple (the engaged pair) made me blush.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I'm in your corner.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6700, L. A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Our old friend the unlucky expert really must be the most accident-prone bridge player in the world. Here is another tale of woe.

"I will admit that some people would prefer a one heart response to my two-club call, but six clubs are a lot better than four hearts."

In any case there was nothing wrong with my final three no-trump contract.

"West made his normal lead of the king of spades. I was yely happy to see that delightful jack in dummy and won the spade. Then I led a club. Now look what happened to me."

"East slipped on his ace, looked around moonishly and placed the king of hearts on the table. I could find no better play than to take my ace and start on dummy's

Presented award

Mrs. Henderson honored at Filer

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Mrs. Helen Henderson, Idaho's Mother of the Year, received the Jaffee award Thursday evening at the Clover schoolhouse.

The Filer Young Mother's Counseling Service and the Clover unit held the special joint meeting for the award presentation. The Jaffee award is presented yearly to a woman who has done outstanding work with young people.

William B. J. Jaffee, well-known New York attorney, became interested in youth work several years ago and was impressed with the approach of young mothers in dealing with problems of today's world. He instigated awarding the medallion to an outstanding woman and Mrs. Henderson was selected as this year's recipient because of her role in the organizing of young mother's counseling groups.

Mrs. Henderson started the first group in Filer a year ago when she returned from the National Mother of the Year competition. A second group in the Clover area was initiated last April. Mrs. Henderson hopes to eventually see groups organized all through the state. Mrs. Fred Gardner, Boulder, Colo., vice president of the American Mother's Committee, was in charge of the award presentation, and also addressed the group on its interests and aims.

A special guest was Mrs. Christina Petersen, Twin Falls, formerly Idaho Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Gordon Larson, member of the Filer group, was in charge of the opening devotions. Mrs. Roy Wright, Filer, and Mrs. Walter Kaster, Clover, read of the organizations' backgrounds and history.

Mrs. Dave Kramer, president of the Clover unit, who introduced Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Henderson, also presented Mrs. Dan Kauffman and Mrs. T. D. Johnston, senior mothers. Guests were presented corsages made by Al Kramer, Castleford.

Each group gave a report on its activities and future projects. A social hour concluded the evening.

THROUGH A NEW ERA IN HOME DECORATION

During the last few years there has been a quiet revolution going on in the furniture and decorating field concerning the proper way to furnish a home.

In the past anyone could buy a book on decorating and follow the rules concerning what goes with what, which colors may be used together, how to recognize and use different periods of furniture etc.

While there are still many such books and while they still contain much that is helpful there have been vast changes in the thinking of decorators and furniture personnel.

More and more people are disregarding all of the old rules.

There are new ideas and concepts in decorating. There is more emphasis today on full integration of the furniture, colors and color combinations and the new ideas. And then you can enjoy the thrill of starting to furnish your home in beautiful new ways.

Dash mark tied, Ryun ousted in trials

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Eddie Hart and Ray Robinson tied the world record of 9.9 seconds for the 100-meter dash and Dave Wottle, a slender six-footer who runs with a cap on his head, tied the world mark of 1:44.3 for 800 meters Saturday night and won spots on the Olympic team at the U.S. Track and Field Trials.

Hart was declared the winner in the 100 with Robinson second and Robert Taylor third in 10 seconds flat.

Robinson and Hart's time equalled the record set four years ago by Charlie Greene, Ronnie Ray Smith and Jim Hines at the AAU championships preceding the 1968 Olympics.

The 21-year-old Wottle, a social studies major at Bowling Green State University and the NCAA champion this year, game from behind with 100 meters to go to beat world record holder Jim Ryun, who wound up fourth and thus failed to win an Olympic berth.

Wottle's time matched Peter Snell's world record set in 1962 in New Zealand and equaled by Ralph Doubell in Australia six years later.

Richard Wohlhuter finished on Wottle's heels and Ken Swenson nipped Ryun at the wire for the third and final Olympic spot in the 800.

Ryun, who holds world records in the 880 yard run, the mile and 1,500 meters, still has a chance at an Olympic berth this year. He is scheduled to run in the 1,500 next week, an event Wottle prefers to the 800.

John Walker, who won a bronze medal in the 50-kilo walk at the 1968 Olympics, took the 20-kilo walk in one hour, 35 minutes, 56.4 seconds. Klopfer, 10th in the 1968 Olympics, was second in 1:38:03.0 and Dooley, another 1968 Olympian, finished third in 1:39:10.0.

Rudy Haluza, who won Olympic berths in 1960 and 1968, finished second in the 20-kilo walk in 1:37:53.4 but was disqualified.

Wottle, probably the favorite now for the 1,500 meter run, said that if he wins the metric mile he probably will drop out of the 800, which would leave the spot open for Ryun in the event he fails to qualify in the 1,500.

Earlier in the program, Robinson led a five-man, wind-aided 9.9 finish in a semifinal heat of the 100-meter dash.

It was believed to be the closest and fastest finish ever in a 100-meter dash, a 10.51 mile per hour wind, notwithstanding. Officials, working without a photometer, took more than 20 minutes to declare the final positions and when they finally did, Robinson was named the winner.

Following in order, according to the officials, also in 9.9 were Norbert Payton, Warren Edmonson, Eddie Hart and Willie Deckard, while Steve Riddick, two-time Olympian Mel Pender and Harrington Jackson were caught in 10.1.

Since only the first four finishers Saturday advanced to the final, later on in the program, Deckard with his 9.9 and Riddick, Pender and Jackson with 10.1s did not make it.

The other 100 semi-final was won by Gerald Tinker in 10 flat with the help of a 7.83 mph wind. Marshall Dill was second, also in 10 flat, while Robert Taylor was third and Jon Young fourth, both in 10.1.

Advancing, also with 10.1s, were Herb Washington, Ivory Crockett, James Amerson and Larry Burton.

AAU Champ Dick Bruggeman and NCAA champ Bruce Collins won semi-final heats in the 400-meter hurdles while co-world record holder Bob Seagren, 18-footer Dave Roberts and Steve Smith all cleared 16-9 to lead a 21-man advance to the pole vault finals Saturday.

Finals in the 20-kilometer walk, discus, triple jump and 800 meters followed later on in the program.

Ron Whitney, sixth in the 400 at the 1968 Olympics and seventh fastest on the all-time list, failed to survive and became the fourth former Olympian to miss winning a berth for this year's Munich Games. Whitney was sixth in the heat won by Bruggeman with only the first four in each semi advancing to the final.

Bill Schmidt of the Army led 12 qualifiers into Sunday's final in the javelin with a throw of 266-2 while in pole vault qualifying co-world record holder Bob Seagren advanced by clearing 16-9.

Mann, whose 440 yard world record stands at 48.8, missed catching Bruggeman at the wire and was clocked in 49.6.

Also winning final berths in that heat were former Washington star Jim Seymour and former Michigan star Bob Steele.

Jim Bolding of Oklahoma State, second to Collins in the AAU championships, was second to him in the other semifinal heat in 50.2. Carl Wood of the University of Richmond grabbed the third spot and Bob Cassleman of Michigan State the fourth and final place.

Others who didn't advance in the 400 hurdles besides Whitney included NAIA champ Mel Bassett of North Carolina Central and Nick Lee of Baltimore, sixth fastest in the world this year.

A crowd of more than 10,000 turned out for Saturday's program.

WORLD RECORD HOLDER Jim Ryun sails comfortably to victory in the semi-finals of the 800-meter run during the Olympic Trials at Eugene, Ore., Friday but things weren't so happy for the veteran when he finished fourth and off the team in the finals Saturday night. (UPI telephoto.)

Pam Barnett leads women

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI)—Little Pam Barnett of Charlotte N.C., despite three-putting five holes, posted a three over par 75 Saturday and took the lead after three rounds of the U.S.G.A. Women's Open Golf Championship as second day leader Shirley Englehorn skied to an 82 and dropped five strokes off the pace.

Miss Barnett, one of the smallest girls on the LPGA tour at 5-foot-5 and 115 pounds, started the day two strokes behind Miss Englehorn but finished her round with a 54 hole total of 224, which was three strokes better than Judy Rankin, Betty Burfeindt and Betsy Rawls.

Gloria Ehret, only one stroke off the pace after 36 holes, also had a dismal day on the soggy 6,266 yard Winged Foot Country Club course as she struggled to an 80 and dropped four strokes behind Miss Barnett in a tie with Susan Berning.

A heavy rain, which delayed play 1-2 hours on Friday, made the course play much longer than normal and only nine of the 53 contestants were able to break par.

Miss Barnett, who has won only one tournament since turning pro in 1966, never found her touch around the green but made up for her putting woes with some booming drives and precision iron shots.

"The pin placements were especially tough today," said Miss Barnett. "I tried to hit the center of the green on most of my shots because of where the pins were located, but I really didn't have an easy putt all day except for a couple of short ones. Maybe I should have gone for the pin."

Her troubles on the green cost her an even larger lead entering Sunday's final round. She three-putted the first, sixth, ninth 14th and 18th holes but saved herself by missing only one green in regulation. She had birdies on the second and 13th holes.

Miss Englehorn, whose comeback attempt after major surgery on her ankle last July has made her a favorite of the gallery, never got her game going as the drudgery of three days of walking over the long course seemed to be taking its toll.

Miss Englehorn had only begun to walk 18 holes last week after months of convalescence from her operation.

"I think she was extremely tired," said Miss Barnett, who played the round with Miss Englehorn. "She started off well but then just lost it. That's a lot of walking for her in a row."

Miss Burfeindt and Miss Rawls each posted 74s to move into contention while Miss Rankin carded a 76. Miss Burfeindt will pair with Miss Barnett in Sunday's nationally televised final round. Kathy Whitworth, one of the all time greats on the women's tour, turned in the day's best round, an even par 72 but was still six strokes behind Miss Barnett at 230. Miss Whitworth's score was only the second par round recorded in the tournament so far. Miss Englehorn also shot a 72 on opening day.

Houston topples Atlanta

HOUSTON (UPI)—Lee May's towering home run and Doug Rader's two-run single supported Don Wilson's seven-hit pitching Saturday night and gave the Houston Astros a 4-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

May's homer, his 14th of the season, tied the score at 1-1 in the second inning and started a two-run rally. Bob Watson doubled and scored the go-ahead run on a ground out and Johnny Edwards' sacrifice fly.

Rader's bases-loaded single came in the sixth inning and proved to be the winning margin. It came after a single by Cesar Cedeno and walks to May and Watson.

Wilson, a notoriously slow starter who usually hits his stride around July, went the distance for only the fourth time and evened his record at 5-6. He didn't walk a batter and struck out eight including Hank Aaron, Rico Carty and Earl Williams twice.

The Braves scored a run in the first inning when Ralph Carr singled, stole second and scored on Aaron's single.

Seven marks fall in women's meet

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—Seven record performances highlighted the preliminaries and semifinals of the women's division of the 1972 AAU National Women's and Girls Track and Field Championships Saturday.

Alice Annun of the Sports International Track Club, Washington, D.C., tied the American record in the 200-meter dash by winning her semi heat in 22.8 seconds. The old mark was held by Barbara Farrell of the Los Angeles Mercantiles, who set it at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

A Judith Johnson won a separate semifinal heat Saturday in the relatively slow time of 25.5 to qualify for Sunday's championship finals.

Miss Annun's 22.8 bettered by a tenth of a second one of the oldest national meet marks, the 22.9 set by Wilma Rudolph of Tennessee State University in the 1960 Nationals at Corpus Christi, Tex. The world record is 22.4 seconds, set by Chi Cheng of Los Angeles and Taiwan at Munich, Germany, Dec. 7, 1970.

In the third heat of the 100-meter dash, Miss Annun nipped Iris Davis of Tennessee State University. Both were clocked at 11.1 seconds, equalling the meet record set by Miss Farrell in the national semifinals at Santa Barbara, Calif., in 1967.

In separate semifinal heats of the 100-meter hurdles, Patty Jean Johnson of the Angels

UNBELIEVING Mark Belanger, Baltimore shortstop, appeared to have a routine force out on Detroit's sliding Willie Horton (top) but when the dust cleared he could be seen looking unbelievably at the ball on the ground. Detroit won 2-0 Saturday. (UPI telephoto)

Manager denies Ramos used drugs prior to title match

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The manager of World Boxing Council lightweight champion Mando Ramos denied Saturday that his fighter took amphetamines before the Pedro Carrasco bout and charged that the Spanish Boxing Federation "didn't want us to get out of Spain with the title."

Jackie McCoy, who returned here from Madrid Friday night, said:

"Mando's not stupid. He knew he had to give them a urine specimen after the fight. He's not about to do anything like that."

"They just didn't want us to get out of Spain with the title. As far as I'm concerned, he's the champion. Nobody has said anything different."

The 23-year-old Ramos, who remained in Spain with his wife and young son, scored a split decision over Carrasco at Madrid Wednesday night.

me they would. But when I got ready to leave, they refused. I planned to take it to a doctor in Los Angeles."

McCoy said Ramos had been given "three different kinds of pills by the hotel doctor" to relieve constipation but "that's the only kind of pills Mando took over there."

The manager said he expected his fighter to make two more starts in the 135-pound division and then campaign as a welterweight.

McCoy said Ramos probably will face Mexico's Chango Carmona—if Carmona gets past Jimmy Robertson here next Thursday night—at Los Angeles in September.

Both times surpassed the old meet record of 13.4 seconds set by Miss Cheng in the Nationals at Dayton, Ohio, in 1969 and equalled by Miss Rallins at UCLA in 1970.

Miss Johnson equalled the record of 13.4 earlier in the day in her preliminary heat.

Miss Johnson and Miss Rallins share the American record of 13.1 seconds which could go by the boards on the fast rubberized surface at the newly constructed Citizens Field here.

Olga Connolly of the Los Angeles Track Club qualified for the finals in the discus but her throw of 156 feet, 2 inches was far below her usual performance and left her in third place among the dozen qualifiers.

Josephine Dela Vina of the Chicago team of the Mayor Daley Youth Foundation spun the discus 161 feet, 2 inches to lead the qualifying.

Other leaders in the field events included Maren Seider of Mayor Daley Youth Foundation in the shot put with 49 feet, 11-1/4 inches; Kathy Schmidt of the Long Beach Track Club in the javelin with 179 feet, 8 inches; and Martha Watson of the Los Angeles Track Club with 19 feet, 10-3/4 inches in the long jump.

Teenage sensations lead six Americans into quarterfinals

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Teenage sensations Chris Evert and Jim Connors led a charge of six Americans

Saturday into the quarterfinals of the Wimbledon tennis championships. The 17-year-old Miss Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., erased Julie Anthony of Malibu, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, and Connors, 19, of Belleville, Ill., trounced Francois Jaffret of France, 6-2, 6-3.

Connors and Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., are the only Americans in the men's singles quarterfinals. The women are heavily represented with Miss Evert being joined by Bette Jean King, Nancy Richey Gunter, Patti Hogan and Rosemary Casals.

Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif., ousted British Wightman Cupper Winnie Shaw, 6-4, 6-2. Mrs. Gunter of San Angelo, Texas eliminated Kerry Harris of Australia, 6-3, 7-5. Miss Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., knocked off Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4 and Miss Casals of San Francisco stopped Betty Stove of Holland, 6-3, 6-2.

Connors, angrily denied British press reports he is romantically involved with Miss Evert, the new darling of the Wimbledon crowd.

"We've had dinner twice together, but that does not mean we are engaged or anything. We are just two young people on our first trip to Britain. Everything is very exciting and we get on well together, so it's natural we sometimes go out," he said.

Connors' victory qualified him for a meeting with second seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania, a 6-3, 3-6, 8-6, 6-1 winner over Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash.

Australia's Colin Dibley took sixth seeded Frechman Pieter Barthes 8-9, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1, to set up a meeting with third seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain, who beat Romania's Ion Tiriac, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Miss Evert, outfitted in pink pannelled tennis attire, had some difficulty in solving the strength of Miss Anthony, but then began putting her baseline drives within six inches of the chalk and beat her opponent with a precision game.

Miss Evert's quarterfinal opponent will be Miss Hogan and if she gets past the Californian her rival in the semifinals will be Evonne Goolagong of Australia, who was extended to three sets before defeating Olga Morozova of Russia, 3-6, 6-0, 9-7.

In the third Connors saved two set points in the 12th game and then broke for 7-6 with a power-laden forehand. The unstoppable backhand volley Frenchman saved two match put Connors into the quarterfinals.

Koosman, Mets blank Expos 2-0

MONTREAL (UPI) — Dave Marshall drove in both runs with a single and a home run Saturday night as the New York Mets ruined Montreal's celebration of Canada's 105th birthday by shutting out the Expos 2-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Jerry Koosman.

In the third inning, Bud Harrelson singled with two out and when Boceabella made a bad throw to Mike Torrez covering first base, Harrelson went to second. Marshall singled to shallow left field but Harrelson scored on the play.

Marshall added a two-out home run in the fifth inning his second of the year to make the score 2-0.

For Koosman, it was his first shutout since May 16, 1970 when he blanked the Philadelphia Phillies. Koosman struck out six and walked only one. Torrez failed in his bid for his 10th victory of the season as he was charged with his fourth defeat.

Riva Ridge maintains mastery in Hollywood Derby victory

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Riva Ridge extended his domination over the nation's 3-year-olds to the West Coast Saturday as the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes winner was pushed to the utmost to capture the 32nd running of the $109,900 Hollywood Derby by less than a half length at Hollywood Park. Riva Ridge was never able to pull away from the field of eight by more than about a length, and in the final stages shook off Finalista inside the sixteenth pole only to have Bicker come on with a strong closing rush to finish only a neck behind.

The mile and a quarter was run in the exceptional time of 1:59.3-5, just a fifth of a second off the stakes record set in 1956 by Count Of Honor.

With his victory, Riva Ridge became the second Kentucky Derby winner to capture the Hollywood Derby. Swaps came back from the Kentucky Derby in 1966 to win this race.

Riva Ridge carried 129 pounds in the race to equal the high weight carried by Round Table in capturing the Hollywood Derby in 1957. The crowd of nearly 45,000 installed Riva Ridge as a 4-5 favorite and he returned $3.20, $3 and $2.20.

Bicker paid $5.80 and $4 for his surprise second while Finalista returned $2.40.

Riva Ridge earned $59,900 for the win to increase his lifetime earnings to $862,150, the most earned by any thoroughbred still in active competition.

Ron Turcotte, who had said Riva Ridge could run with speed horses, took the champion out in front by the time the field had passed the stands for the first time.

Royal Champion and Finalista forced the early pace with Bicker in fourth position. Riva Ridge opened up his longest lead of a little more than a length going down the backstretch with Royal Champion and Finalista still his closest rivals.

The field bunched going around the second turn and Laffit Pincay Jr. made a bold bid with Finalista as they rounded into the stretch, drawing almost even with Riva Ridge. Bicker was closing ground between horses in his own belated bid.

As the sophomores charged down the stretch, Turcotte urged Riva Ridge on, and in a determined effort, kept his mount in front for the narrow win.

It was Riva Ridge's fifth victory in seven starts this year and his 12th triumph in 16 lifetime races.

The win put Riva Ridge a step closer to becoming the 11th millionaire in thoroughbred history. His victory was scored in the colors of Mrs. Helen Tweedy's Meadow Stable, which bred the son of First Landing in Kentucky.

Although Pincay finished third, he was charged with his fourth defeat.

Cards take pair from Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Donn Clendenon hit his third home run of the season in the fourth inning Saturday night to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and a sweep of a twi-night doubleheader. The Cards won the opener 6-1.

Clendenon's homer, which opened the fourth inning, decided a pitching duel between winner Al Santorini and Ken Reynolds. Santorini picked up his fourth victory in six decisions and notched his shutout with relief help from Diego Segui. Reynolds lost his fourth straight decision.

Bob Gibson, who led the St. Louis attack with a double and two singles, held on to win his seventh straight game in the opener. Jim Nash, the first of four Philadelphia pitchers, suffered his fourth loss in five decisions.

Nature unkind to San Joaquin Valley farmers

MODESTO (UPI) — San Joaquin Valley farmers, a normally pessimistic lot despite a $2 billion annual harvest, have reason to be even gloomier than usual this year.

At least, some of them do. Nature has not been kind to them. First, it was one of the driest winters in decades with dire predictions of water shortages this summer. Then came a severe March frost with crop damage estimates running as high as $35 million in Fresno County alone and $102 million statewide.

The frost struck in a crazy-quilt pattern leaving some growers untouched while others lost up to half and in some cases nearly all their crop.

Now, with the harvest of apricots in the northern part of the valley, there are indications farmers hit hardest by the cold snap face still another problem — labor shortages.

Stanislaus County provides such a clue. The county's $5 million apricot industry, already reeling from two years of low prices, suffered a 30 per cent loss overall during the freeze, but the crop loss hit unequally. Some growers escaped unscathed while others lost up to 70 per cent of their crop.

Brice Draper, a partner in the Campbell Ranch Co. which farms 220 acres of apricots in the Patterson area, says pickers are avoiding the sparse fields.

Much of the work in apricots involves hauling buckets of ripe fruit down ladders, and workers find trees loaded with fruit much more profitable on a piece-rate basis.

"The pickers are choosy," Draper admits. "They're picking the better orchards."

On June 16, the California Farm Bureau issued a statement calling the labor situation in the apricot harvest, which stretches from Yolo County down into Merced County, "critical" and said "sizeable portions" of the crop were being lost.

Milton Levy, executive vice president of the 400-member Apricot Producers of California, later soft-pedaled the Farm Bureau claim and said that while none of the crop was actually dropping to the ground, many orchards were being picked late resulting in overripe fruit, a lesser grade and lower prices.

Halfway through the Patterson area pick, Draper said a survey of growers indicated they would have enough help to squeeze through the harvest although spotty orchards would have trouble.

One problem mentioned by many apricot growers which portends for other crops throughout the summer harvest, is the apparent absence of many out-of-state migrant workers.

Bill Chubbuck, director of the Modesto Rural Manpower Service office for the California Human Resources Development Agency, was one of the first to become aware of the lack of migrants.

"We usually get a large influx from Texas, New Mexico and other Southwest states," Chubbuck said. "This year they just stayed home."

Why they are staying home, and in what numbers, is a matter of debate in the farm industry.

Some say farm leaders, individual growers, anti-poverty agencies and state and local officials all over-dramatized the magnitude of the March freeze in hopes of getting federal relief through a Presidential declaration of disaster. They predicted massive unemployment for farm workers.

Gordon Larkin, chief of the State Emergency Assistance Program Division, disagreed on the potential unemployment problem.

Larkin reported the first week in June that nearly every county affected by the freeze was short on labor.

Whatever the situation, the Presidential declaration, which would have provided unemployment compensation for farmworkers and $2,500 "forgiveness" loans for growers, was not approved by the Nixon administration.

Although they failed to convince the federal administration, valley farmer and worker interests apparently did convince some out-of-state migrants that little work was to be had in California this summer.

Those questioned expressed confidence this "credibility gap" about the amount of work available will decrease as migrants learn they are needed in San Joaquin Valley fields.

To overcome the problem, the Growers Harvesting Committee of Modesto, representing farmers in three counties, has been carrying advertisements in out-of-state newspapers telling of the valley labor shortage. State agencies are also spreading the word that help is needed.

Paul man appointed

PAUL — Richard R. Schenk, Paul, has been appointed to a supervisory committee for the Farmers Home Administration by State FHA director Donald L. Winder.

Schenk will serve on the west Minidoka committee, which must consider and pass on all FHA-backed loans in the area. The committee recommends action to the county supervisor after considering the applicant's eligibility of the loan.

Other committee members include William Wakewood and Robert Greer, both Paul.

30 Day Temperature Outlook

Farm productivity up 10 per cent last year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farm productivity jumped by 10.6 per cent last year, bringing total gains in the farmer's efficiency since 1967 to 25 per cent, an Agriculture Department report showed today.

The report said output of cattle and other livestock products for each man hour of labor in 1971 jumped 8.4 per cent above 1970, while efficiency in crop production per man-hour jumped 10.9 per cent.

The increase for crops, officials noted, was deceptive because efficiency figures for 1970 were abnormally depressed by an outbreak of corn blight and a severe drought in the southwest.

In effect, the big crop increase reported in 1971 represented efficiency gains which partly belonged — under normal circumstances — to 1970.

This abnormality, however, did not shake the impressive longer-term comparisons shown in the report: productivity per man-hour of labor on all farm commodities up 25 per cent from 1967; productivity on livestock and poultry up 29 per cent; productivity on crops up 22 per cent.

The steady gains in productivity figures have been hailed by administration farm officials as evidence that farmers were doing far more than other sectors of the economy to offset the inroads of inflation.

On a regional basis, per-hour productivity in 1971 rose (1967 equals 100), 4 points to 118 per cent in the northeast, 9 points to 129 per cent in the Great Lakes states, and 22 points to 131 per cent in the corn belt which suffered from blight in 1970.

Also 19 points to 136 per cent in the northern plains; 8 points to 118 per cent in Appalachian states; 12 points to 120 per cent in the southeast; 5 points to 129 per cent in Delta states; 6 points to 131 per cent in Mountain States, and 2 points to 119 per cent in the Pacific States.

The next step is for the federal government to call for bids for spraying the acres for grasshopper control, according to Smith.

The program is a three way sharing between the state and federal governments and private owners.

The meeting was held in the county agent's office. LaMont Smith, county agent, reported that 16,440 acres of private grazing land were signed up by private owners for the control program.

USDA spending plans increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In what is now an annual ritual, the House has voted an increase of more than a quarter billion dollars above administration proposals for conservation subsidies, rural electric loans, and grants to help small towns build water and sewage systems.

The action came as the House Thursday approved and sent to the Senate an appropriation bill covering Agriculture Department spending for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Among the items tucked into the multi-billion dollar bill was $225.5 million for use next year in the Rural Environmental Assistant Program (REAP), for which the administration had asked only $140 million.

Rejecting the White House proposal, which represented a cutback from this year's $195.5 million the House approved the $225.5 million figure in two installments.

For traditional conservation practices on farms and ranches, the bill carried $195.5 million for cost-sharing REAP payments covering part of the cost of approved practices. In addition, the measure appropriated $30 million to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), but directed transfer of those funds to the Agriculture Department for use in the REAP program.

The $30 million will be used for payments on animal waste storage and disposal facilities needed to combat pollution.

Under this year's program, cost-sharing payments to farmers for animal waste projects have been taken out of the regular REAP fund; under the proposed 1973 program, they will be a separate, additional part of the REAP spending plan.

On top of the $85.5 million increase over the administration's $140 million proposal, the new spending bill included increases of $107 million above White House requests for rural electrification loans and $42 million more than President Nixon asked for rural water and sewer system grants.

The combined increase over administration proposals on the three items was $234.5 million. In recent years, Congress has frequently exceeded administration proposals on these items and the administration has frequently refused to spend part of the appropriated money.

In the case of the REAP funds, for example, officials here talking privately doubt that even if the Senate approves the full amount voted by the House, the White House Office of Management and Budget would be willing to spend it all. The OMB has been a long-time critic of the program under administrations of both parties.

Farnworth has been associated with the FHA since 1956. He was first employed in the office at Payette, was supervisor at the Grangeville office for two years and then transferred to Emmett where he has served as county supervisor until his recent transfer to Rupert.

He replaces Lynn Bradshaw who has been promoted to district supervisor for district 3 with headquarters in Twin Falls. Bradshaw's district will include the county offices located at Gooding, Shoshone, Jerome, Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Paul and Salmon.

A native of Pocatello, Farnworth graduated from Utah State University with a major in animal husbandry and agricultural vocational education.

The Farnworth family is expected to arrive in Rupert next week. The couple has six children with two children still living at home.

Merry Pet

Linda Merry, DVM

Question: We have a three year old parakeet who has a severe problem. We give him a small amount of seed, but no matter what he eats his stomach becomes bloated. Often he endures such pain he will fall to the bottom of the cage and thrash his legs wildly. Also, he seems gasping for air. We have consulted a vet, but he has never seen anything like it. Can you tell me what I can do?

Answer: Talk about a colossal stomach-ache. Birds have stomachs but they also have a "crop" that serves as a grinder for foods before they reach the true stomach. I suspect that your bird's crop is out of order, much like a garbage disposal that was fed too many bones.

Impaction, or sour crop, can be caused by swallowing something too big to pass through, stale food, lack of water, inactivity, enlarged or cystic thyroids, old age, and several other things. Whatever the cause, birds with this problem show tremendous distress and can die of suffocation or undernourishment if Help consists of having a veterinarian remove the impaction either by bringing it up through the mouth or surgically removing it. Neither process is easy or without risk — but leaving the bird to die slowly is such a poor second choice that it's not a hard decision to make.

Question: We have a young terrier that is high strung. The thunder storms we've been having seem to scare her out of her wits. We're worried that she'll be a nervous wreck after the Fourth of July fireworks. Someone told us we could get tranquilizers for her. Is this true and would it help? Answer: Absolutely true and it may liberate you for July 4.

Your veterinarian can prescribe a tranquilizer and help you adjust the dosage for your individual dog. It's a good idea to have tranquilizers on hand for trying times with a nervous pet.

Fullers honored

LIFETIME member of the Twin Falls Municipal Band, Dr. Orrin Fuller, center, was presented special awards Thursday night for 55 years of service with the band. Dr. and Mrs. Fuller also celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary that night. Daniel Kertsch presented a plaque to the Fullers and a gold baton to Dr. Fuller.

Filer awarded funds for city park development

FILER — The city of Filer has been awarded $2,024 for reimbursement of portions of work completed on the development of a city park.

The money comes from the Land and Water Conservation Fund program which supplies 50 per cent matching funds for the acquisition of recreational lands and the development of outdoor recreational facilities.

The presentation was announced Wednesday by Merle Allison, Idaho Parks Board member from Filer. Allison said the grant, which is the seventh payment for work done on the project, belongs to a total of over $15,000 federal funds which have been expended on the park project.

According to Allison, this payment is for landscaping, fencing, lighting and development of a water system. The total project, when completed, will cost about $37,000, half of which will be financed through federal funds.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund is administered by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation.

Improperly parked cars worry Rupert commission

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Improperly parked cars and a lack of directional signs were cited as bringing problems to downtown Rupert traffic by the Rupert traffic safety commission.

Commission president Elmer Eddington said better directional signs are needed at the corner of Fifth and F Streets where northbound traffic must turn east to circle the city park. Too many drivers still mistakenly attempt to continue straight ahead into the oncoming one-way traffic, Eddington said.

Another problem results from cars improperly parked on the wrong side of the street. Drivers have to cross both lanes of traffic when they continue on their way, Eddington said.

The commission also suggested that Rupert police use more caution in issuing tickets to drivers at fault in accidents. Too often, Eddington said, neither driver will be cited and insurance litigation is required to determine fault.

Motorcyclists have been urged to keep their headlights on day and night when in motion, in order to increase visibility on the part of other drivers. The commission will continue to further this program as well as urging the cyclists to strap on their helmets for safety.

Joe Phillips, a member of the Snake River Trail Machine Riders Association, said he will bring up the problem at the next meeting of the group.

The commission also discussed the possibility of closing an exit from the Safeway Store parking lot, entering on Scott Avenue to reduce traffic congestion. The exit is near a corner where traffic is often tied up with trains blocking a nearby exit from town.

Safeway officials said they will contact their Salt Lake City headquarters for approval of the closing.

Safety commission member W. E. (Bill) Whitton suggested that magistrates allow traffic offenders to work out the fines or sentences with constructive tasks. He suggested they could clear away brush from around road signs, sweep gravel out of intersections to reduce the danger of skidding and do other needed chores.

Magistrate LeRoy Blacker will be invited to attend the next commission meeting to discuss the possibility.

The troublesome fence at Washington school, which has been the subject of discussion at several meetings was brought up again.

Water needs reduced

TWIN FALLS — Below normal temperatures during the past two weeks have greatly reduced the demand for irrigation water, according to Carlos Randolph, Minidoka Project superintendent.

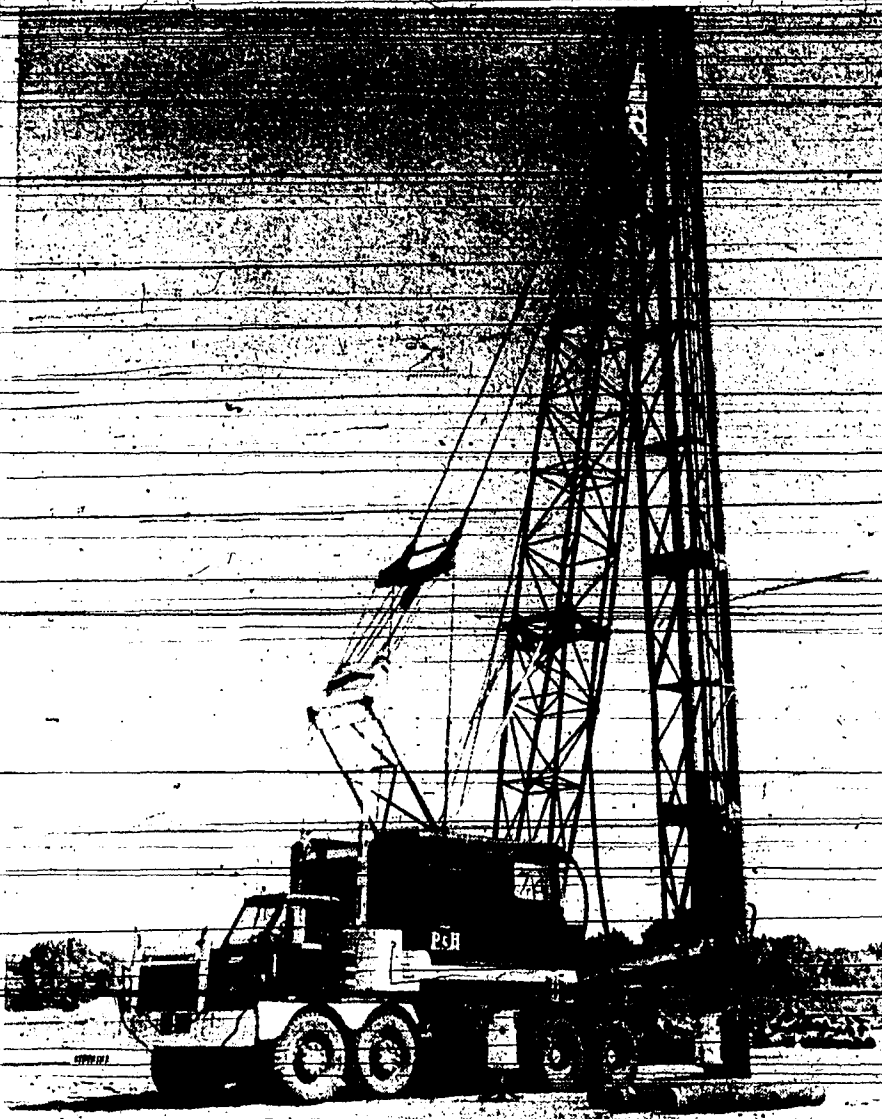

Randolph said cool weather was delaying the snowmelt in the high country on the Snake River watershed — and lengthening the ongoing flood control operation.

He said the Snake River flow past Milner had increased to 10,000 cubic feet per second. There are 175,000 acre feet of flood control space remaining in Jackson Lake and Palisades reservoirs.

This space should be adequate to control the remaining snowmelt runoff. All the reservoirs in the upper Snake River storage system are full except Jackson and Palisades and they should fill in the next two weeks.

The inflow above Heise, a measuring point on the river below Palisades, is running 18,000 cubic feet per second down from the peak flow of June 9th of 45,852 cubic feet per second.

The peak flow for the 1971 season at this point was 48,500 cubic feet per second. The flood operation this year has controlled the flow at Heise to 20,000 cubic feet per second.

Work progresses 'Hot' plants on Burley store

BURLEY — Work is progressing on East Main Street for the New Skaggs-Albertson Shopping Center.

Crews are operating a steam driven pile driver which reaches some 72 feet into the air. By Friday evening 34 steel pipes had been driven some 30 feet to solid ground. The pipes are 12 inches across and there are 250 pipes to be put down. Reynolds International, Salt Lake City, Utah, is handling the pile driving project.

The 12-inch pipes will be filled with cement and cut off at ground level for footings for the proposed shopping center building.

Each pipe will support 45 to 50 tons.

GOODING — While Sheriff Earl Brown and Deputy William Boyer watched from a hideout nearby a young Gooding man carefully tended some plants Friday northwest of Gooding.

When he finished, Brown and Boyer arrested Karl Douglas Wennstrom, 21, on a charge of producing and manufacturing a controlled substance.

They alleged the plants he was so carefully tending actually were 188 marijuana plants between one and nine inches high. They said the plants were growing in a row of cornstalks.

Wennstrom appeared before Magistrate Charles C. Shaw Friday afternoon, asked for an attorney and posted $1,000 bond. His case was continued until next Wednesday.

Gooding citizens elect chairman

GOODING — Roseann Hardin, Gooding, has been chosen new chairman of the Gooding Senior Citizen advisory board.

She was named Friday night in Gooding at a special meeting of the board.

At the meeting the board discussed a contract agreement for renting the VFW Hall at $1,800 per year.

Director Marlene Lees announced that she began work

Saturday at the Senior Citizen Center and it will be open to the public July 10.

Mrs. Lees said federal funds for the operation of the center are expected in the next 10 days.

The board discussed a booth at the county fair to display historical objects and the handicrafts of the senior citizens.

The Senior Citizen Center now has a telephone, 934-5504, and a box number, 471.

Tire store fire reported in TF

FILER — Dabner Lowder, Filer, owner of the OK Tire store here, said Saturday he has not yet been able to determine his loss in a fire early Friday.

He said a sizable amount of merchandise including tires, batteries, and tubes and some equipment, were destroyed as well as a portion of the building located on U.S. Highway 30.

He said fire apparently started inside the building, probably in a shelf area, and smoldered for some time before it was discovered by Filer night watchman, Leo Ross. He said the quick work of the Filer Fire Department saved him from total loss. Lowder said wiring was not the cause of the fire.

Although he was out of business Saturday, Lowder said he hoped to be able to make repairs and be back in business next week. He said most of the interior of the cinder block building was destroyed. All interior walls are of wood, he said.

Loss, he said, would run several thousand dollars, part of which is covered by insurance.

Parade for GF

GLENN'S FERRY — A parade at 10 a.m. will begin the July 4 celebration in Glenn's Ferry.

A riding club gymkhana is set for 11 a.m. and the flag raising and dinner for old timers will be held at noon. Kids races and soft ball throwing contest is set for 2 p.m.; baseball games at 3:30, 5 and 7 p.m. and flag lowering at 6 p.m.

The Jaycees are sponsoring an auction at 8 p.m. with proceeds going to the TIP program. The fireworks will begin at dark and advance will be held at 10:30 p.m. at the city hall.

weekend to check IDs on the floor. He said he had also bought extra kegs of beer.

He predicted the rush would be heavy for a month or so and then level off. Culp said the new drinkers will go to the hard liquor bars first, but when they find they can't afford that, will start drinking beer.

Culp said he expects his business to increase. The manager at the Idaho State Liquor Dispensary in Twin Falls doesn't think the law will make any difference in his business.

William Pohlman said "I'm not worried much about it." He said he will be a little busier, but the only difference will be in checking IDs. More of the younger people will be checked.

Ray Clements, manager at Safeway on Main in Twin Falls, said selling beer and wine will not be significantly changed.

He said he expected a temporary increase in sales that would slack off after a few weeks.

Greg Roland, assistant manager of Albertson's in Twin Falls, said there will be a big run on beer and wine for a few days — but said the July 4 weekend is big anyway.

Roland said youths had been drinking before the law changed.

"I don't particularly like it," said Caroline Knudson, wife of the manager at Maxie's Pizza in Twin Falls. "We've already seen some of their (19-year-olds) displays," she said.

Injured Burley youths improve

BURLEY — Debbie Flowers, 17, Burley band student, was listed in serious condition Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Miss Flowers had been listed in critical condition since she was injured Monday when a car driven by Milo Hatt struck members of the band while they were practicing.

Deanna Winks, Steve Woolstenhulme and Mike Brown were listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital Saturday.

The entire Mini-Cassia area has rallied to the battle scarred band. Jay Haskell of the Cassia National Bank said Friday about $2,000 had been donated by merchants to help finance the trip to Calgary, Canada.

Schools have volunteered to loan instruments to the group to replace those damaged in the accident. Several businesses including gasoline stations are conducting sales promotions with percentages of the revenue going to the band fund.

The students themselves had earned over $4,500 for the trip. Members of the band and the Stepperettes have been planning the trip for more than a year.

Many of the instruments were owned by the school and will have to be replaced. The school estimates loss and damage to instruments at about $3,000, about $2,400 to school owned instruments.

The first public appearance of the band since the accident will be the Rupert July Fourth parade. The Rupert Chamber of Commerce has offered trophies in the band and has suggested unit divisions and they predict a trophy will unquestionably go to the heroic members of the Burley High School marching groups.

A "Debbie Flowers Fund" has been started by Henderson's Service Station. The fund will help pay medical expenses for the injured girl.

Planning group asks ordinance

GOODING — The Gooding County Planning Commission will request passage of the county ordinance requiring planning commission and county commission approval for any construction or land use alteration in the county.

At the planning commission meeting Thursday, chairman Bob Bolte instructed John LeMoine to formulate a resolution to that effect and present it at the next meeting July 13.

If passed by the planning commission, the resolution asking for the new ordinance will be forwarded to the county commissioners for consideration.

"We don't have any control over what people want to do in the county until we zone," said Ben Glauner, county commissioner.

The ordinance will be designed as a stop-gap measure to give the planning commission and the county commissioners time to work out long-range planning for the county, according to LeMoine.

This statement was incorrectly attributed to Glauner in Friday's Time-News. The Time-News regrets the error.

Former Buhl man takes Burley post

BURLEY — Gary N. Loomis has accepted a position as rehabilitation specialist with the Burley satellite office of Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation.

Loomis, a former Buhl High School teacher, will work in the general vocational rehabilitation program and with migrant agricultural workers in the area.

He received a master of arts degree in Spanish from Arizona State University in 1971. Prior to entering graduate school, he taught Spanish, German and driver education at Buhl High School. As a University of Arizona graduate student, he also instructed Spanish classes.

A native Idahoan, Loomis was born at Council. He and his wife, Claudia, are the parents of three minor children.

Bellevue man runs for post

BELLEVUE — A Bellevue man has been appointed to run on the Democratic ticket for District 21 State representative.

Robert (Bob) R. Guffy, 49, was appointed by the district Democratic Central Committee to oppose Republican incumbent E.V. McHan, Ketchum, and Steve Antone, who were unchallenged.

A second candidate is currently under consideration for the district central committee, according to chairman Ronda Hunt, Carey. Under state law, the party central committee is empowered to fill vacancies in its party on the ballot.

Guffy said he felt he represented the working man. The Bellevue resident is presently employed by the SATO Construction Co. at the Elkhorn at Sun Valley project, and had formerly managed the Picabo Grange Elevator for ten years.

The candidate said he would like to see education receive "more adequate funding" with some salary increases given to teachers. He said U.S. Highway 93 through Blaine County should be widened and improved.

Guffy is married, has four children and has lived in Idaho for 34 years.

Bartenders calm

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Bartenders remained calm as 19-year-olds got their first taste of legal liquor here at midnight Friday.

Their consensus was that the youngsters usually had access to beer and liquor before Idaho's new law went into effect.

They expected the "experienced" drinkers to handle themselves well.

"We might find many kids have more sense using the product (alcohol) than the older people," said one Twin Falls bar owner.

John Kinghorn, owner of D.J.'s Lounge, said Friday night those who will drink when the law changes were drinking already.

He said they have been getting alcohol from other sources. Often friends buy it for them. Kinghorn said "People are overestimating the business it will create for bars and lounges. They don't have the money or are still living with their parents."

"It's not going to help me monetarily that much," he said.

Kinghorn didn't even anticipate a giant rush after the law changed at midnight Friday. "They had better have their IDs with them!" he said.

Dennis Culp, owner of Me n Ed's Pizza House said he had hired two extra persons for the July 1 brings new business

Green Thumb

by George Abraham

A new wrinkle in planting seeds consists of tape — strips of narrow water-soluble plastic in which are embedded equally spaced seeds.

You plant the tape. It dissolves leaving seeds to germinate. Many gardeners have asked me how practical these seed tapes are. Let's start with the advantages of using the seed tapes. They are appealing to children and grown-ups who like to plant and who don't want to bother thinning or transplanting seedlings. You plant the tape where you want the plants to grow.

To me, the big disadvantage is cost. Let's compare costs: If you take a wonderful zinnia such as State Fair, and buy an ounce, it costs you around $2.50. One ounce of it has around 3,500 seeds, which is a lot of seed.

Now if you take a seed tape having around 200 seeds, and costing around 75 cents, simple arithmetic shows the following: it costs you 7 cents per 100 seeds by the ounce, and it costs you around 36 cents per 100 seeds by the tape.

An ounce of zinnia seed would supply your whole neighborhood with plants. If you bought only 1/4 ounce you would still have enough to supply a lot of your friends. True you might have to thin out seedlings, but when you do this, you can pull out the weakest, discard them and let the strongest grow.

Another disadvantage to the tape. You're paying for the packaging. Also, you're limited to selection. You take what's in the tape. If you buy seed in packets, you have all the selections you want: giant-flowered zinnias, two-tone variegated, novelties, cactus-flowered types, hybrids, pompons, midgets, cut and come again, button zinnias, Mexican types, to name a few.

Zinnias are one flower you can sow seed directly in the ground. What's wrong with sowing a few extra seeds outdoors, and pulling out the surplus. Thinning isn't much of a chore. Suppose you plant a tape and something goes wrong with seeds. You're going to have some space problem, and no seedlings to fill in.

QUESTION BOX

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. F. of Twin Falls: "Last year you had a recipe for making a rose jar. I tried it and was delighted. Now I can't find the recipe. Will you repeat it, please?"

The old-fashioned rose potpourri, or rose jar is made in several different ways. Here's one which we like, and we hope you'll like the delicate scent and delightful aroma of dried, spiced petals.

First, gather the rose petals before the sun is high and spread them on a table in the shade until the dew has evaporated. Then arrange in half-inch layers in a covered jar or dish, sprinkling each layer with ordinary table salt.

Add the petals daily by day, until they measure about two quarts when pressed down solid. Stir thoroughly every morning. Ten days after the last addition has been made, mix together in a separate dish 1/4 oz. each of ground mace, cloves and allspice, 1/2 oz. of ground cinnamon, 2 ozs. of powdered orris root, and 1/4 lb. of dried lavender flowers.

Fill the rose jar with alternate layers of rose petals and the above mixture, and sprinkle each layer of petals with a few drops of any preferred essential oils, such as rose, geranium, bitter almond, or orange flower.

Then over the whole pour an ounce of any good toilet water or cologne. Various sweet blossoms or fragrant leaves may be added from time to time, such as heliotrope, lemon verbena, rose or lemon geranium, mignonette, etc. Some like to add a few slices of orange or lemon peel, and a few drops of glycerine or alcohol.

Does any one have a different recipe? Please send it along.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D.F. of Ida: "I wish you would settle a question for us. Is it necessary to prune tomato plants? We never know which leaves to prune."

Let's say that a lot of gardeners grow tomatoes and they never cut out a single leaf or stem, and still get plenty of fruit. I think it's more important that you stake your tomatoes if you want larger, cleaner, and rot-free tomatoes. We don't bother to prune our tomatoes, but if you are anxious to do the job on yours, we'll try to explain. First, note that as your plant grows there are shoots which appear in the axils of the leaves (where the leaf attaches to the stem).

These shoots are called "suckers" and are removed when two to four inches long. They can be pulled off easily by grasping the sucker with thumb and forefinger, and pulling outward and downward. Do not cut suckers with a knife as you can transmit virus diseases from one plant to another in this way.

NOTE: We can't understand why the leaflets are called suckers. To me they are just as important as other leaves as they not only provide food, but also shade for tomatoes. If pruning sounds "Greek" to you, then we suggest that you forget the job!

You can grow all the tomatoes you want without resorting to any pruning whatsoever. You might better spend your time mulching the tomatoes with straw, sawdust, hay, etc. These save moisture and keep weeds down. Your plants will not need cultivation the rest of the season. Mulching also reduces fruit cracking and blossom-end rot, common troubles on tomatoes.

A.N. of Twin Falls: "You're right about jewel weed being good as a treatment for poison ivy. Unfortunately some people usually have a severe case of poison ivy rash BEFORE the Jewel weed is up and growing. So we suggest you boil or steep the plant when it is growing, in water, strain it and freeze the liquid in cubes. Store the cubes in plainly marked containers in the freezer."

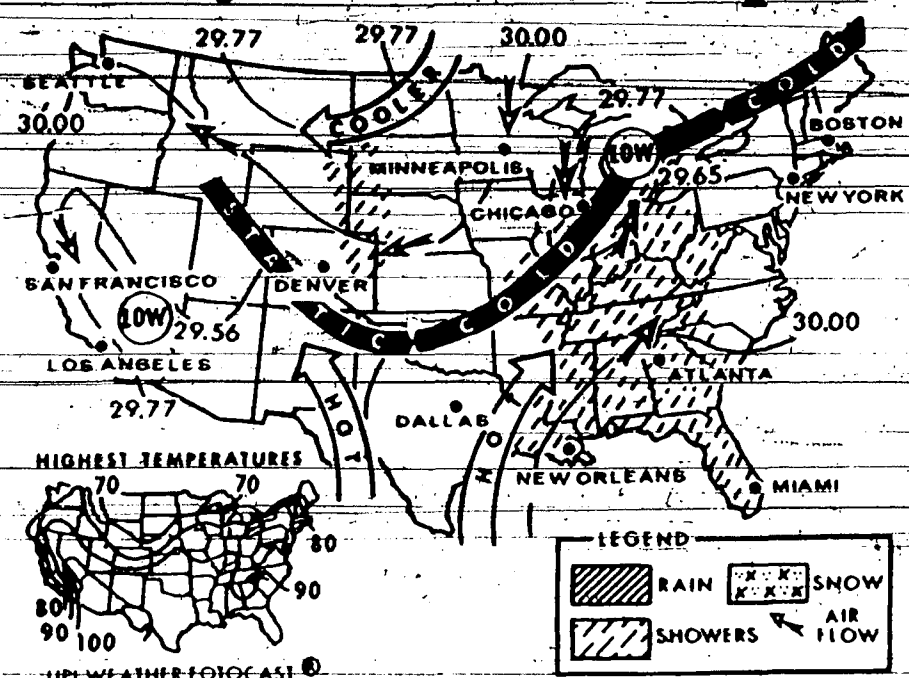

When you want a treatment for poison ivy rash, all you need to do is rub a cube of the concoction on the affected parts. It dries up the rash, and helps relieve the itching. This frozen preparation is good for poison ivy any time of the year.

Good idea. Please send me more hints on how plants can be used.

Fair today with cooling trends

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert area: Fair today and Monday with cooling trend. Westerly winds 15 to 25 miles per hour at times during the afternoons. Highs both days 76 to 86, overnight lows 43 to 53. Probability of measurable rainfall is near zero through Monday.

Camas Prairie, Hailey and Lower Wood River Valley:

Mostly fair today and Monday with some afternoon cloudiness. Cooling trend. Highs both days 72 to 82, overnight lows 38 to 43. Synopsis: Clear skies extend westward from western Wyoming across Idaho and Oregon out into the Pacific Ocean about 600 miles. A large high pressure ridge along the North Pacific coast is causing this fair weather and dry northwesterly winds. Temperatures Saturday have reached about five degrees cooler than Friday with highs in the 60's and low 60's. This is in sharp contrast to the 100 plus degree temperatures in the valleys of California and Arizona. Weather charts indicate a probable rise in temperature across southern Idaho after the 4th. Afternoon surface winds are averaging 10 to 20 miles per hour in most valley areas. Extended outlook for Southern Idaho, Tuesday through Thursday: Fair weather and little temperature change. Cooler in the east with highs 75 to 85 and 85 to 95 in the western part of the state. Overnight lows, upper 30's through 50's.

Truck owners to file tax returns

BOISE — The Internal Revenue Service has launched a program to insure that owners of large trucks and buses comply with Federal Highway Use Tax laws.

John C. Anduiza, Boise, IRS information officer, said lists of registered truck and bus owners will be compared with Federal Highway Use Tax returns to assure that returns are being filed, and that all taxable vehicles are correctly reported. Revenue collected by the federal government from the highway use tax is returned to the states to help pay the costs of the interstate highway system now under construction.

The tax is imposed on certain trucks, truck tractors and buses that use public highways. The amount of the tax depends on a combination of the number of axles and weight of the vehicles. Generally, the tax applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more and truck tractors weighing 5,500 pounds or more.

The highway use tax year runs from July 1 through the following June 30. Owners of trucks in use on public highways during July have to file a return by Aug. 31, Anduiza said.

Returns will also be required for vehicles first used on public highways after July. The IRS said that increasing numbers of farmers are becoming subject to the tax because of the growing use of large vehicles in the agriculture industry.

IRS publication 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck Tractors and Buses," furnishes detailed information and may be obtained by mail or in person from most IRS offices, Anduiza said.

Road work delayed

SHOSHONE — Work on State Highway 26 near Shoshone will be delayed approximately two weeks, E. L. Kidner, Shoshone state highway official, said Friday.

The work from five miles west of Shoshone to Shoshone is being delayed because of damage to the plant mix container. The damage occurred when rock which was in the way of positioning trucks for loading was removed by crewmen, puncturing the container.

Since a replacement is not available, the damaged equipment is being repaired, necessitating the delay.

The five mile section of highway has been under construction for the past several weeks. Included in the project is the South Rail Street reconstruction in Shoshone to the Highway 83 intersection.

Hairy Shins Inhibit Love

Rarely does a nurse fall in love with a gentleman patient. Realize this claim contradicts a widespread belief. But almost any nurse will tell you it's most difficult to feel that old romantic tug toward a man after seeing his hairy shins sticking out from beneath a hospital gown.

ASK ANY 1,000 people to name the card game they last played. No. 1 in such a survey will be contract bridge. No. 2, pinochle. No. 3, rummy. No. 4, gin rummy. No. 5, solitaire. Or such is the report of a playing card manufacturer.

A THEATER owner of lengthy experience says most all the aisle seats on any given night will be occupied by people considerably overweight. They like to spread out comfortably at least on one side, he assumes.

MACHINES

There are machines that can duplicate the action of the human wrist. And of the hand. And of the finger. And of the combined action of all three. That's why it still takes a long line of little Japanese girls to put together a watch.

"NAME the toughest trial drive in history," directs a Texan. Believe that would be the famous Far North Reindeer Run. Took 12 herders five years to finish what was left of 8,500 reindeer over 1,500 miles of ice and snow. From the middle of Alaska to the mouth of the Mackenzie River in Canada. Was only 38 years ago it ended.

PEOPLE who talk a lot are most apt to get dental cavities. That's the questionable claim of the British Dental Association. The more the mouth is open, the more exposed are the teeth to elements in the air, and this exposure erodes, and, oh sure,

SUGGESTS

Second lesson in that course for success in business by millionaire manufacturer William P. Lear, Sr., reads as follows: "Learn when to quit a job. As soon as you know how to do the work as well as it can be done, ask for more responsibility or a different assignment. If you're not given one or the other, get out."

IN THAT film called "The Godfather," Marlon Brando wears a dental apparatus fixed with little pads called plumpers to make his cheeks bulge out. Do you figure it improves his appearance? Neither do I. Still, the wearing of plumpers was common practice in this country generations ago. Itinerant dentists sold little ivory balls for that purpose to countless ladies who thought their high cheek bones made them look too lean.

Blood assists man to health

TWIN FALLS — Guy Matsuoka, Twin Falls, attributes his current health to assistance of the Red Cross Blood Bank.

In October of last year Matsuoka noticed some unusual pains in his chest. At first doctors believed the pains were due to a cold, but when they persisted he was sent to Boise for heart X-rays. Doctors found the problem to be two blocked blood vessels near his heart.

Matsuoka was, at this point, a good candidate for a fatal heart attack. He decided on open heart surgery and was told that eight pints of blood would be necessary prior to the operation.

Matsuoka called Mrs. Irene Basom, chairman of the Twin Falls Red Cross, and explained that he was a four gallon donor and asked if he could have his own blood back. Mrs. Basom told him that his blood had probably already been used and current blood would be needed.

The Red Cross took over and located the blood that would be necessary for the operation.

Matsuoka was responsible for replacement of the blood used. He did get it replaced through the help of friends, relatives and fellow church members.

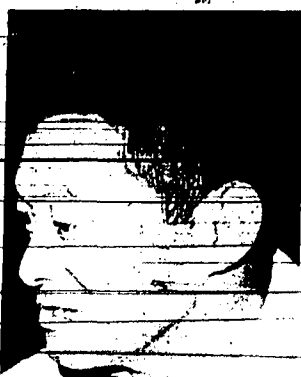

After being in Boise for a day and a half for preparation for surgery and rehearsal for post surgery therapy, Matsuoka underwent a coronary bypass on March 16.

The operation involved three surgeons, a team of anesthesiologists and numerous nurses.

Matsuoka was under the anesthetic for a total of sixteen hours and was given intensive care for six days following surgery. His doctor predicts Matsuoka will be back to 100 percent activity within a few months since he had had no previous attacks.

Matsuoka, a former Seattle resident, is head instructor for the YMCA Judo Club and maintenance engineer of Asgrow Research Center. He is married and has five children.

The Twin Falls blood-drawing will be held from 1 to 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, July 6. The quota is 150 pints. Everyone, especially O negative donors, is urged to "come out and give blood," according to Burt Hulsh, blood drawing chairman.

Burley band to march at Rupert

RUPERT — The battered but unbowed Burley High School Band will march in the Rupert Fourth of July Parade.

Burley band members, nearly devastated by a tragic accident Monday night, are expected to start the show when the annual Parade moves through Rupert. Several members are still hospitalized after a vehicle plowed into practicing marchers Monday.

The Minico High School marching band will also be performing, but parade officials predict this may be one time the home town band gets less applause than their rival Burley marchers.

The Rupert Fourth of July parade will traverse a new parade route this year, says parade chairman, Larry Edgar.

The event will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday in downtown Rupert, travel east on Sixth Street to the city square, around the square and then back on Seventh Street to K Street where paraders will turn west to pass Mindoka Memorial Hospital.

Participating floats and groups will form in parade order between H and K Streets and Seventh and Fifth Streets. Floats will be judged at 9 a.m. with novelty and special divisions judged following the floats, Edgar said. Drill teams, bands and other entries must be in place by 10 a.m.

In addition to the gala array of floats, entries include a novelty division open to all children, the Union Pacific Mini-train, Lowell Turner's oxen and a team of giant Clydesdale horses.

POLLY'S

DEAR POLLY—I make nature work for me by putting flowers between the rows of vegetables in my garden. They attract the bees who pollinate the vegetables, so I get all that labor for nothing.—SHERRY

DEAR POLLY—When mending knits, children's sleepers, etc., I put an embroidery hoop over the place to be mended, remove the foot from the sewing machine so as to slide the hoop (top-side-down) under the needle, and then replace the foot. I use the zigzag stitch back and forth over the hole. If the hole is larger than a dime, insert a piece of lightweight material under it before putting the hoop on. An old sock or part of an old T-shirt make great materials for such mending.—RUTH S.

DEAR POLLY—When making a garment that has gussets, I use colorless nail polish on the spot clipped so it will not pull out or ravel. Also, when making doll clothes or cushion tops out of material that ravels easily I touch the edges all around with the colorless polish.—M. E. H.

DEAR POLLY—After defrosting the refrigerator I brush around the door of the freezing compartment with glycerine so I'll have no problem with ice forming around the door or catch. This method can also be used on outdoor locks.—MARY D.

DEAR POLLY—When my children's jeans become too tight, I open the side seams and sew in strips of bright-colored denim. With the bright colors and wild styles, the children feel right in style. If jeans are too short, I add bands of the same denim around the bottoms of the legs.—ELIZABETH P.

Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, c/o this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—Every week I cut the Pointers out of the Sunday paper and the children enjoy pasting them in two scrapbooks I bought just for this. Reading them is a nice pastime for anyone at any time, as the entire family enjoys them.—D. M. S.

DEAR POLLY—The following idea was picked up from my mother. Our weather is so uncertain that we need both warm and not-so-warm bed covering. To keep from having to constantly change these covers, roll the unwanted covers and tuck under those on top. When the weather changes from warm to cooler simply unroll the cover and use it.—S. L. L.

DEAR POLLY—An old fountain pen with the point and cartridge removed makes an excellent holder for needles and pins in a sewing basket. Fill one with hairpins. Carry it in your handbag and have no more digging through everything else to find them.—MRS. J. W. C.

FOR LEE MARVIN

I hear your whole acting career came about by accident. Is that true?—T. Miller, Pensacola, Fla.

● Yes. I was in the Marines and had been seriously wounded while in combat in the South Pacific. They sent me back to the U.S. for hospitalization, and I was recuperating at my home when I met the producer, E. J. Ballantine, who seemed to think I had a natural flair for acting. Shortly after that, I appeared in his off-Broadway version of "Roadside." I liked doing it. Since then, I've been in 40-odd movies and appeared on more than 250 TV shows.

FOR RONALD L. ZIEGLER, Presidential Press Secretary
When "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played upon the President's arrival at the Peking airport, why didn't he hold his hand over his heart as he does in America?—Bruce Ludwig, Lnaa, Ohio

● Because the flag was a considerable distance from him, the President felt it would be more appropriate to face in the direction of the music and stand at attention. This demeanor was most proper for the President under the circumstances.

FOR PAULA PRENTISS

How did it feel when you finally made it, when you knew you were a movie star?—L. Dodge, Stockton, Calif.

● I frankly didn't know life could be so fantastic. I'm doing exactly what I want. My husband, Dick Benjamin, is exactly, unbelievably, the man I want. But when I first became a movie success I was only 25, and I was too young to handle it; you must be able to handle it emotionally when your dreams come true. And always, always in the back of my mind I had wanted to be a movie star.

FOR SIDNEY POITIER

Is there anything about our life in this day and time that disturbs you a great deal?—P. T. J., Tulsa, Okla.

● Yes. I'm terribly disturbed by the desperate amounts of crime and the extreme bitterness that keep racking and polarizing this country. I worry about an impersonal quality in our daily lives. When I walk down the street, I want everybody to have a sense of what kind of person I am. I do have time. I do care. I say hello and get a hello back. Saying hello is the quickest way I can export a little bit of what I believe.

FOR CARROLL O'CONNOR

As a youngster, were you exposed to the sort of bigotry we hear in "All in the Family"?—L. L. M., Lancaster, Pa.

● I grew up in New York, but I never heard Archie's kind of talk in my own family. My father was a lawyer and was in partnership with two Jews who, with their families, were close to us. There were two black families in our circle of friends. My father disliked talk like Archie's. He called it the hallmark of ignorance.

FOR DORIS DAY

What happened to the two boys who played Toby and Billy on your show?—Cynthia Smith, Waco, Texas

● Tod Starke and Philip Brown are happy and well and still acting from time to time. They're wonderful kids, and my only regret about the changes in "The Doris Day Show" is that several former cast regulars had to be written out of the show, including Tod and Philip.

FOR AMANDA BLAKE of "Gunsmoke"

Many actors and actresses who appeared a lot on live television during its so-called "Golden Age" talk longingly about those days. Did you like live TV?—Mrs. E. L. King, Utica, N.Y.

● I loved live television. There's nothing that affords a more gratifying experience than knowing you've done well before such a large audience.

FOR ROBERT SHAW, actor

Which one of your costars have you most enjoyed working with?—B. Johnson, St. Louis, Mo.

● On a personal level, Sean Connery. Sean is a lovely man, a loyal man, a good friend. I feel like a father to him—a funny thing to say about a man of 43, when I'm only 45 myself. If I called Sean right now and said: I wanted a million dollars—well, I wouldn't get a million, but I'd get a very large sum.

FOR CLEVELAND AMORY, author and critic

What qualifications must one have to be a TV critic?—R. L. Atlantic City, N.J.

● I'm tempted to say, terrific charm, great intelligence, devastating personality, grit, integrity and know-how. But, seriously, TV critics are usually people who have either started out as reporters or, as in my case, written books. Once you write a book, you are usually given other people's books to review. And that starts you on the road to being at least a book critic. But it's a lonely life. Nobody loves a critic.

FOR JANE WITHERS, child star who grew up to become "Josephine the Plumber" on TV

Someone wrote that your mother planned your movie career before you were born. Is it true?—L. R., Centerville, N.Y.

● It sure is! When Mama was 14, she told her brothers and sister that when she got married she would have one child—a girl—and that child would be a movie star. When she grew up and married, all during her pregnancy, she would go around to the local theaters in our hometown, Atlanta, and look at marquees, envisioning what first name would look right in lights. Yes, my mother preplanned my career—but, believe me, I wanted it just as much as she did!

"Men are frightened by Women's Lib. Any change in the family structure threatens both men and women. No man is going to change by being beat over the head with blame."

What Psychiatrists Say About Women's Liberation

by Lucy Cummings

Whether you agree with the feminists or not, the subject of Women's Lib has become an important part of the consciousness of the 1970's. It's been discussed, evaluated, argued about and reshaped on television and radio, in magazines, newspapers and books. The subject has become so emotionally charged that many hostesses have made it a conversational no-no, along with politics and the weather.

But what has it really done to our individual thinking and our relationships with each other? How deeply has it reflected the average man and woman, and, most importantly, the average American family and marriage? FAMILY WEEKLY went to the experts—professional psychiatrists—for some opinions. Here's what they told us.

Dr. Ruth Moulton,

Psychoanalyst and former Director of Training at the William Alanson White Institute in New York:

"Women's Lib has helped a lot of frightened, submissive women to articulate their inner anger and frustration over being homebodies.

"Although the movement has been very exciting and very meaningful for a lot of women, it has also aroused an enormous amount of repressed anger, some of which is misdirected and undirected—and can do a great deal of harm.

"A great many American women believed, as Dr. Spock did, that if a woman concentrated all her efforts on raising a child, she could produce a genius. Now Women's Lib comes along and tells her that she missed a wider world, and it provides a means by which she can vent her bitterness. In a lot of cases it is backfiring.

"Women are using this whole housekeeping and cleaning business as a weapon to put men down. Both sexes have devastating weapons that they can use against each other, both utilizing revenge. I don't think this works well in resolving human conflicts. My method, as a mother who worked, first at home and then outside, was to achieve emancipation by quietly doing a good job, seeing that my home ran right, getting adequate and loving help for my children and then 'doing my thing.' I have seen women throw down the gauntlet and say, 'I'm through with the kitchen—you do the shopping.' You can't change a man or a culture that way or that fast."

Dr. Ruth Moulton:

"I have seen women throw down the gauntlet and say, 'I'm through with the kitchen—you do the shopping.' You can't change a man or a culture that way or that fast."

"One of the awful things about Women's Lib is that it is saying, untruly, that men and women are basically alike except for their reproductive organs. Men and women can be different and make equal contributions to society. I think the physical differences between men and women are more diverse than those between blacks and whites. I say that because the Lib movement likes to equate itself with the black struggle. The sexes are different. There are few women who can dig ditches. Why should they even want to?"

Dr. Alexandra Symonds:

"Different kinds of women need different kinds of help... Women's Lib lumps all of them together as if they were all the same."

Dr. Alexandra Symonds,

Assistant Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, New York University School of Medicine:

"I think a woman's ability to change her role in life is a matter of individual personality. The options have always been there for women who are emotionally and psychologically equipped to take advantage of them. Women's Lib does not speak to or for these women. Many women have accomplished extraordinary things with or without the sanctions of society because they have strong personalities. What Women's Lib has done is provide a framework, or a language, if you will, for those women unable to articulate their frustrations. The leaders of the movement are articulate, educated women who are able to conceptualize the case for women who are not very verbal. But they do these women a great disservice when they go overboard.

"Different kinds of women need different kinds of help. Highly educated women who are trying to get into the professions need one kind of help. The working woman stuck with no money needs another kind. Women's Lib lumps all of them together as if they were all the same."

Dr. Miltiades L. Zaphiropoulos, Practicing Psychiatrist:

"Women who truly want to stay home and take care of their families are being angered and threatened by feminist thinking. They are being told that they are being enslaved by men, or submitting to male demands, and they don't like it.

"To be equal does not mean you are the same. Differences tend to frighten people. If people can accept differences in others and still accept them as human beings, they are mature.

"On another level, I feel that the movement is causing a lot of confusion among younger women who are being misguided as to what a woman should do for herself and what a man should offer to do for her. While it may have awakened a sense of female rights, it has also given men a chance to distort this new concept of equality to get out of lifting a finger. The man's excuse will be that he doesn't want to take anything away from her emancipation."

Dr. John L. Schimel:

"Women's Lib implants... the attitude that marital failings can be blamed on the husband.... There is a definite paranoia that runs through some of the thinking."

Dr. John L. Schimel,

Psychoanalyst and Associate Director of the William Alanson White Institute:

"Women's Lib has raised the level of consciousness for the average American woman. What the movement has done is to focus and provide a language for many long-standing problems. Many women resent their husbands. Many people, both men and women, are too immature to carry off such an adult relationship as marriage, and Women's Lib implants in some women the attitude that marital failings can be blamed on the husband. However, this illusion that you are right and the fault is in someone else comes very close to mental illness. I'm not saying advocates of Women's Lib are mentally ill, just that there is a definite paranoia that runs through some of the thinking. Lib has given society a shove in the right direction in some areas—equality of employment and pay, liberalization of abortion laws, etc.

"The fact that men are afraid of women is not news. The battle of the sexes has been going on forever. Women's Lib has no relevance for the lower class or for the upper class—it is simply stirring up the middle class. What frightens many women even more so than men is the acceptance indeed the promotion of lesbianism in the movement. I think this part of the Lib concept is calculated to frighten and shock."

Dr. Natalie Shainess:

"Women's Lib... is definitely a worthwhile movement. However, I don't see eye-to-eye with the more militant positions."

Dr. Natalie Shainess,

Lecturer in Psychiatry, Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons:

"Women's Lib has provided a voice for women for the first time. It has given women a new kind of bravery. One excellent example of this is the liberalization of some abortion laws. This would never have come about without this voice. In government and with regard to certain women's positions in industry, I think Women's Lib has definitely been responsible for an improvement. It is definitely a worthwhile movement. However, I don't see eye-to-eye with the more militant positions.

"I don't doubt women's need for help, but I do not believe that very small children can get along without the consistent loving care of a mother. If mother doesn't care, she should not have children. Unless we want our entire social quality to deteriorate, we must have mothers with very small children.

"I also believe that Women's Lib is doing men a great service. When relations are more honest and fair between the sexes, everyone benefits."

Dr. John Briggs:

"I think a man will change if he is persuaded intelligently.... No one will change his thinking and behavior if he is approached with hostility."

Dr. John Briggs,

Practicing Psychoanalyst:

"Since World War II, women have had real options between work and family. It only helps to perpetuate the myth of female oppression to say that they haven't had these options. True, certain areas have to be improved in employment, but it's beginning to happen, and Women's Lib can take some of the credit. Where I part company with Lib thinking is with this whole 'blame syndrome,' which I see as an exercise in futility. I believe that a woman with real understanding of herself takes a dim view of the blame factor and feels that it is irrelevant. It is similar to the person who says all his problems were caused by his parents, complaining that 'my mother didn't love me.'

"Men are frightened by Women's Lib. Any change in the family structure threatens both men and women. No man is going to change by being beat over the head with blame. I think a man will change if he is persuaded intelligently that there is something that his wife wants to do that will make her a more fulfilled person. No one will change his thinking and behavior if he is approached with hostility.

"This idea that a man's world is such a wonderful place is what we call in psychiatry an overcorrection. Any woman who has given some thought to this will recognize it is a myth."

Dr. Miltiades L. Zaphiropoulos:

"Differences tend to frighten people. If people can accept differences in others and still accept them as human beings, they are mature."

Dr. Rollo May,

Psychoanalyst and Author of "Love and Will":

"The struggle to prove one's identity is obviously a central human motive in women as well as in men, as Betty Friedan in 'The Feminine Mystique' made clear. This has helped spawn the idea of equality of the sexes and the interchangeability of the sexual roles. This equality is clung to at the price of denying not only biological differences, which are basic to say the least, between men and women, but emotional differences, from which comes much of the delight in the sexual act.

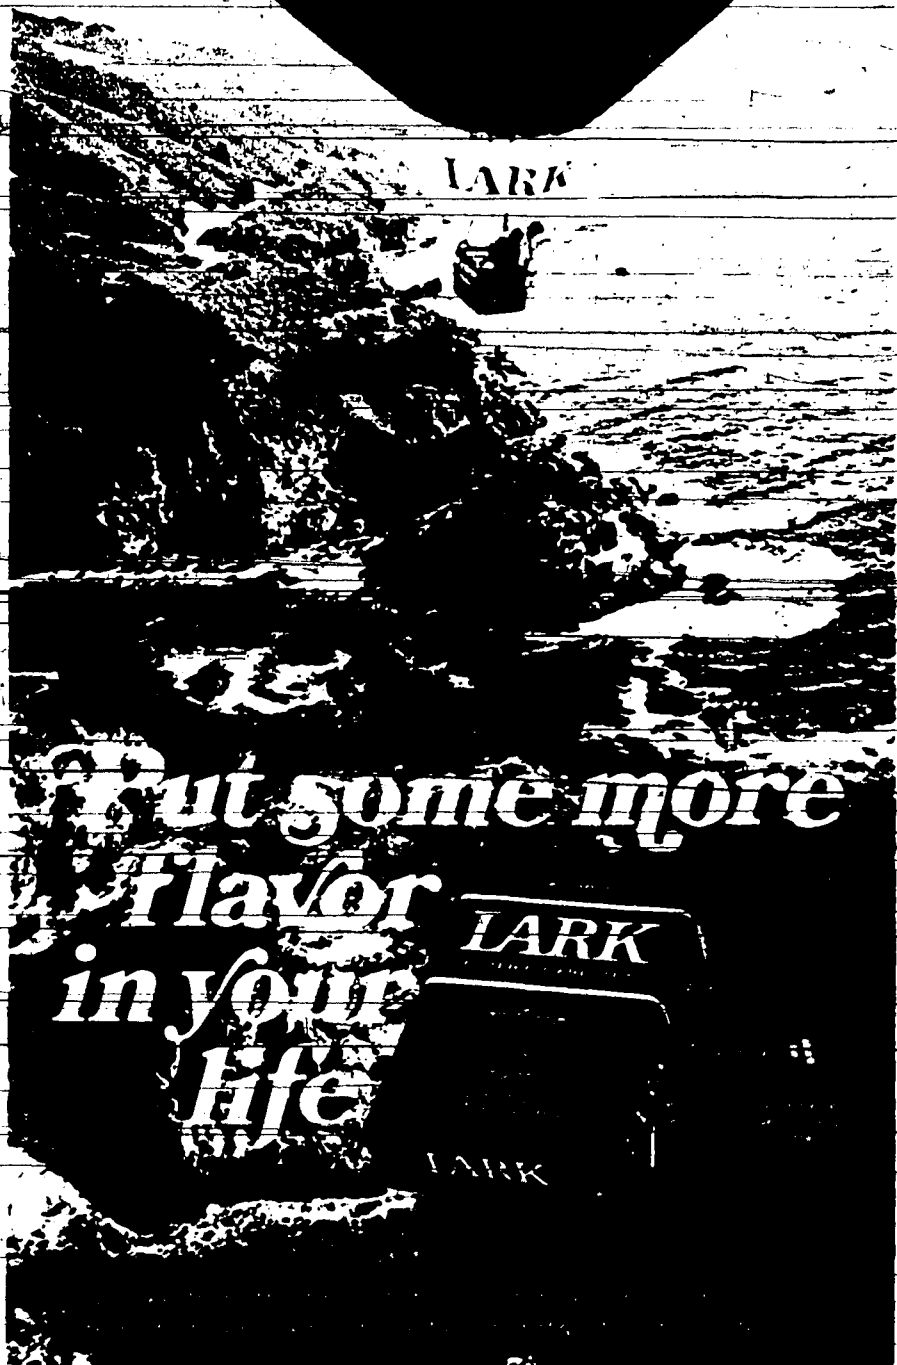

"The self-contradiction here is that the compulsive need to prove you are identical with your partner means that you repress your own unique sensibilities, and this is exactly what undermines your own sense of identity. This contradiction contributes to the tendency in our society for us to become machines even in bed."

Dr. Rollo May:

"The compulsive need to prove you are identical with your partner means that you repress your own unique sensibilities, and this is exactly what undermines your own sense of identity."

How to Be the One Fisherman in Five Who Catches Four of Every Five Fish

By James Joseph

Fish wardens, taking census among anglers, have proved it. Roughly 20 percent of the fishermen catch 80 percent of the fish. In some areas, the catch/no-catch ratio is even more lopsided.

Luck? No, say the experts, it's know-how.

Yet anyone can join angling's "lucky" 20 percent with practice, patience and familiarization.

Tip No. 1: Practice fishing. Many "unlucky" family anglers wet a line only once or twice a year—usually, during their annual vacation.

The good fisherman will practice fish two or three hours for several weekends before his do-or-die vacation try. If you're a spin-reel or fly-rod angler, get your casting arm in shape by casting local lakes, a swimming pool, park pond—or even "dry casting" in your own backyard.

Tip No. 2: Study the waters you plan to fish. In lakes, the hot fishing spots are usually close to shore in relatively shallow water. Inspect the shoreline. Look for logs, weed patches, overhanging banks—and especially where streams or brooks empty into the lake. Fish these hot spots. Ignore the others.

If stream fishing, look for quiet water immediately downstream from rocks, fallen trees, land projections and sandbars. Fish often rest out of the swift current in these quiet-water places. Given the choice between a sunlit quiet pool and a shaded one, pick the shaded—especially on hot summer days.

Surf-fishing a coastline demands the same kind of careful inspection. This time you're on the lookout for close offshore weed or kelp beds (natural fish-feeding grounds), sheltered coves or bays, and relatively calm water in the lee of rocks and shoreline spits.

Tip No. 3: "Think" like a fish. "Fish," grins an expert, "are no great shakes on brains. Yet they outwit some otherwise brainy anglers. The reason's simple. Fish do things logically. Anglers often don't."

"Think like a fish" and you'll understand why fish (1) prefer one bait to another (the closer its resemblance to natural food, the surer a bait's appeal); (2) feed voraciously only at certain hours (when natural food—including insects—is most active and available); and (3) are finicky about water temperature.

Tip No. 4: Start with the right bait. Ask locally what the fish are biting on. Better: Mosey over to where a "lucky" angler is cleaning his catch. Note the contents of the fish's stomach. If the fish he caught took worms, minnows or other standard live baits, buy and use them. If the stomach shows insects, select a look-alike artificial lure.

Tip No. 5: Test the water's tem- perature. Your granddad might have scoffed at the idea of dropping a thermometer into a likely fishing spot to test water temperature. Today's experts don't scoff—they temperature test. And especially when fishing unfamiliar waters. Science has found there's a specific average temperature that various species prefer and a wider range each can tolerate without losing their appetites. Given the right habitat (your "hot spot") and the right temperature at the depth you intend fishing, there'll be fish. You can count on it. A low-cost (under $2) swimming pool thermometer on the end of a fishline works fine.

"Fish are no great shakes on brains. Yet they outwit some otherwise brainy anglers. The reason's simple. Fish do things logically. Anglers often don't."

Here are some temperatures preferred (in parenthesis) by favorite species, and the temperature range (underlined) they can tolerate. Bluegills and sunfish (72) 65-80; yellow perch (68) 60-75; crappie (68) 60-75; Coho salmon (53-56) 45-60; smallmouth bass (67) 60-70; largemouth bass (70-72) 65-75; rainbow and brown trout (61) 48-68.

With practice and patience and all the time "thinking" like a fish, you'll reel your limit.

At Last! A Plastic Surgeon's Diet!

Designed to carve twenty pounds off your figure in one month! But leave your face looking years younger — and far more beautiful than you have known it for years!

A Vital Note:

Scientifically, you cannot avoid losing weight on this diet, unless you are a glandular case.

We repeat: If you are in average health, you cannot avoid losing weight on this diet. As much as twenty pounds the very first month. But this is the LEAST important benefit it will give you. Far more startling is the beautifying effect it will have on your face. Like this:

You Will Not Feel The Least Bit Hungry!
You Will Have No Craving For Sweets!
And Your Face Will Gain In Beauty Each Day,
As Your Body Loses 4 To 5 Pounds A Week!

We must repeat again: You cannot fail to lose weight with this diet, if you follow it religiously. As much as twenty pounds must melt off your body in a single month.

But your face will not show it! Your face will not develop those "diet-lines". Your face will not give way to that "diet-sag". Your face will show no trace whatsoever of diet-punishment, or diet-nerve, or diet-fatigue!

Why? Because this is a plastic surgeon's diet! This diet was invented by a man who treats the most beautiful, the most glamorous, the richest women in the world. Women who simply will NOT, under any circumstances, go on a reducing diet that adds years to their face, at the time same that it forces a few meager pounds off their body!

So a new concept of dieting had to be evolved! Literally a new way to diet — that protected the face at the same exact moment that it slimmed the body! So that a new glow-of-health poured into that face — a new sparkle — a new seeming-youthfulness that made even old friends stop in astonishment when they saw the dazzling change in the face, before they even noticed that twenty full pounds had been carved off the body!

What's The Secret? Super-Proteins! And A Step-By-Step Way To Beautifully Reduce That Means
YOU Don't Have To Worry About A Thing!

Once you send in the Coupon below, you are given everything you need. And we mean everything. What happens, in effect, is that for one full month your free time is devoted to the principles of one of America's leading physicians — adapted from the same methods used at his clinic in Hollywood, California.

No deviation is permitted. This diet will not work for you if you substitute one morsel of it for another. It is a scientifically balanced formula for beauty — unlike anything you have ever seen before — and therefore it completely overcomes the terrible traps that have always existed for you before in other diets.

(For example, the average low-calorie diet is also inevitably low in nutrients. This causes chronic fatigue, and flabby tissues throughout your entire body. On the other hand, with the ordinary "high protein" diet — not super-proteins as you are given here — you run into the problem of high calories and high cholesterol. This means you simply don't feel good, and therefore that your body just won't stick to the diet. So the fat comes pouring back, uglier than before.)

All these traps are avoided here. You eat super proteins, which are not high-proteins. But they do have a marvelous effect inside your body: That one gram of them will burn up three grams of sugar in your blood stream. And the fat melts away — day after day!

So — this time — you eat scientifically. And you eat well. And you feel no starvation pangs — no craving for sweets. And you have more than enough energy to keep you happy. And you lose up to twenty pounds in the very first month. And you don't "slip back" when that month is finished — you just keep right on losing!

But This Is Still Just The Beginning!
Because The Real Pay-Off Comes Right
Now — IN THE BREATHTAKING NEW FLOOD OF BEAUTY THAT POURS INTO YOUR FACE!

But remember that this is a plastic surgeon's diet — and therefore a plastic surgeon's beauty regime comes right along with it!

At the exact same time that you are carving almost a pound a day off your body, you are also performing "medical magic" on every inch of your face, your neck, your hands and your hair! Hollywood beauty secrets that can transform your entire appearance like this:

How to simply "open your mouth" — and lose your double chin.

How to suck pore-enlarging blackheads right out of your face, using nothing but ordinary breakfast cereal.

A simple at-home treatment for thinning hair, requiring almost no effort and time! (Show this one to your husband—he'll thank you for the rest of his life).

How to use ordinary sand as an instant-sedative.

How cold water — yes, cold water — can often work apparent "miracles" on the shape and firmness of your breasts.

How simple massage can de-contract vital facial muscles, and therefore discourage in a wink many of your most hideous wrinkles. (These ingenious little "finger-tricks" are especially effective against crows-feet and under-the-eye pouches.)

Do-it-yourself cosmetics — fresh, organic, natural — and so effective that they may literally cause you to throw away the expensive artificial ones you have on your bathroom shelf today!

(As just a few examples: A simple fruit night-cream, that helps dissolves away the dead tissue from your skin, at the same time it protects the living. A super-gentle shampoo-rinse, that does not kill the natural oils on your skin when you rinse it off, and therefore does not make your face look older every time you clean your hair.)

Plus Yoga made easy, for busy women who can't give it more than five minutes a day — and therefore have to have its benefits condensed.

Plus Super-Exercises, that trim inches-off your problem spots, quickly! (Some of them take only fifteen seconds a day — and show whole-provoking results in a week!)

Plus a complete guide to Super-Streamlined Plastic Surgery. That can be completed in minutes, requires no hospitalization, has you up and around instantly. And another method that simply "peels away" your deepest wrinkles, without the slightest trace that they had ever existed on your skin before!

Plus Dozens Of Other "Plastic-Surgeon's Secrets" — All Yours To Read Without Risking A Penny!

So here it is — the medically proven breakthrough that puts you only one month away from a breathtaking new face and figure! A figure that weighs up to twenty pounds less! And a face that looks years younger!

All yours in one month — one short month — or you don't pay a penny! Its as simple as that! Up to twenty pounds gone in a single month — and with a face that looks years younger — or you just don't pay a penny!

Remember — once again — if you are in average normal health, you simply cannot avoid losing weight with this diet! And you will not feel the least bit hungry. And your face will grow more beautiful... more glowing... with more apparent youth flowing out of it every day!

It is never too late to become what you might have been. The opportunity is here, on this page, in the Coupon below. Why not send it in — at our risk — today!

Whatever Became of Perry Como, America's Favorite?

"He was sitting in a wheelchair that, he quickly explained, he had learned to manipulate with only moderate success. I knew what he meant as we moved down the hallway into the living room: scratch marks along all the walls he'd sideswiped."

By Peer J. Oppenheimer

Perry Como is alive and living in Florida. Unfortunately, he is not too well. At least, not at the moment.

When Perry gave up his regular TV series more than five years ago, he dropped out of sight almost completely. Every once in a while he'd make a brief appearance on television (as he intended to do last year, when I hoped to see him at the NBC studio in Burbank but didn't—because Perry suffered an accident on the set which crushed his knee); but generally he has been out of the public eye, living in his home near Palm Beach.

Rumors have been that the studio accident was the final blow for Perry. How badly was he hurt? Is his professional life over? Just how does he keep busy these days, and what are his plans for the future?

To get the answers to these and other questions, I phoned Perry while I was visiting Disney World at Orlando, Fla., and asked if I could stop by for a visit. "Sure," he agreed. "I'd like to come up and get you, but it's too painful for me to drive. Mind driving down here on your own?" I didn't mind.

I had to wait about two minutes after ringing the bell for Perry to open the door. The reason was obvious. "I guess that's the first time you've been welcomed by Ironside in Florida," he grinned, extending a hand. He was sitting in a wheelchair that, he quickly explained, he had learned to manipulate with only moderate success. I knew what he meant as we moved down the hallway into the living room: scratch marks along all the walls he'd sideswiped.

It took considerable effort on his part to get from the wheelchair into a more comfortable lounging chair. He still wore a metal brace on his left leg. "The two worst parts of the day are getting up in the morning and going to bed at night," he admitted. "Putting this brace on isn't my idea of fun. But it's a lot better than the heavy plaster cast I wore for the first three months."

To strengthen the muscles of his leg, atrophied from months of inactivity, Perry works with weights every day. It's the only exercise he gets right now.

Although the confinement was driving Perry—who never had anything more serious than the flu—nearly out of his mind, he put up a good front. "I'm supposed to be the most relaxed guy in the world. Don't you believe it! I'm not now—I never was. When I had my television show, I used to work seven days a week to make the show as good as possible. I felt I owed it to myself and the audience. I never relaxed. That was just part of the act."

When Perry retired from his TV show in 1966, he didn't withdraw totally. He kept a music firm in New York. He also has some interest in an oil company. People tried to talk him into endorsing Perry Como Italian restaurants and Perry Como

'These past few years have convinced me that I want to get back into show business full time.... The question is, what will I do? And do I still have a following?'

button-down sweaters, but, said Perry, "That wasn't my cup of tea. I like sticking to businesses I know. That's show business and"—he grinned—"barbering. But I'm not about to cut anybody's hair anymore. [Perry's older fans may remember how he gave up barbering for show business back in 1933, the same year he married Roselle Belline.]

"I was too young to vegetate when I came to Florida," he told me. "What I wanted to do was a couple of specials a year, a guest spot here and there, a few records and a nightclub act. The rest of the time I wanted off for golfing, fishing, visiting my children and grandchildren. I was never much interested in social life. Rose has been, is, and will always be my best company." He tried to keep busy with a few "cookouts" and hobbies like photography. "But I could do it only for one week, and then had to put it away. I'm not much for reading either. However," he added, grinning ruefully, "if my leg doesn't get better soon, I may try knitting next!"

When he opened at Hilton's International Hotel in Las Vegas last year for a three-week stand, it was his first nightclub appearance since he starred at the Copacabana in New York back in 1944. His reported $100,000-a-week earnings were $99,250 more than he had made at the Copa. "I wasn't sure if I'd like working before a large live audience again, but I did. When you've been doing something for 30 or 35 years, it makes you feel good to find you're still accepted and welcomed when you're 60."

Perry soon found out there is no such thing as "semi-retirement" for an entertainer. At least not on a voluntary basis. "When Sinatra retired, he retired for good. [Editor's note: Even Sinatra is now considering a comeback.] I tried part-retirement, and it doesn't work. Either you are in show business, or you are out of it. I am ready to go back to work. These past few years have convinced me that I want to get back into show business full time. That is, as soon as my knee is healed....

"But I can't help wondering," he told me. "Assuming I do make a comeback, what will I do? And do I still have a following?"

The first question is more difficult to answer than the second. "I'd like to do another series, but not a variety show. A situation comedy. But the ones offered to me all have the same unexciting premise—playing a retired entertainer who lives in Florida!"

As for his fans, Perry says he still gets almost as many letters as he did when his show was on NBC. Says Perry, "It's good to know that I haven't been forgotten, that people still care."

For a Well-Fed Fourth, Try This All-American Fried Chicken and Potato Salad

After the parade, satisfy hearty appetites with All-American Fried Chicken.

Marilyn Hansen's choice this week:
fried chicken. "In my town," says Marilyn, "there's a Fourth of July Parade.
Afterward, I invite friends over for a picnic: fried chicken and potato salad.
Only this year, I think I'll change it by adding a generous dash of dill."

ALL-AMERICAN FRIED CHICKEN

- 2 (2 1/2-3-lb. size) broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
- 1 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons thyme leaves
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk or evaporated milk, undiluted
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Vegetable oil or solid all-vegetable shortening

1. Wash chicken; do not dry. Combine flour, salt, thyme and paprika in pie plate. Beat egg in another pie plate, add milk and lemon juice and mix well.

2. Roll chicken pieces lightly in seasoned flour, dip in egg mixture and then roll again in seasoned flour. Place on waxed paper. Let chicken stand at least 30 minutes for coating to dry; roll in flour again if coating is moist.

3. To fry: Pour vegetable oil to depth of 1/2 inch in 1 very large skillet or 2 medium skillets. Heat oil to 375° F. or shortening to 365 F. Add chicken pieces, skin side down.
Cook until golden brown on one side, about 10 minutes. Turn and brown other side, 5-10 minutes. Reduce heat, cover skillet, and cook 25 minutes, or until done. Drain on absorbent paper.

What in the World!

YUL BRYNNER
A Complex Family

"The facts of my existence have nothing to do with the realities of my life," used to be Yul Brynner's rather stiff way of explaining why he kept his family tree so close to the vest. When the Soviets, in "Izvestia," claimed him as Russia's own, he let the truth be known. "I am Russian," he admitted, "but only partly." He's also American, and a Swiss citizen. His grandfather, a Swiss merchant and owner of a Russian silver mine, first took a Japanese wife—giving Yul both Japanese and Chinese relatives. Later he wed a Mongolian woman, and their son was the actor's father. "I'm married to a Frenchwoman," Yul adds, "and I also, claim gypsy blood." So now we know.

Fancy food was never on target in the old Army, and things haven't changed any menu-wise, according to a new U.S. Army study. GI's still like it simple, favoring grilled-cheese sandwiches over Veal Parmesan, apple pie over mincemeat, and corn on the cob over eggplant, zucchini and succotash. New recruits complain they aren't served hamburgers, milk shakes and pizza often enough; but get more than their fill of anything served en casserole. Hands-down favorite: milk.

Accept people's fears: "It's no help at all to tell people who are afraid that their fears are groundless, that there is nothing to be afraid of.... When we dismiss someone's fears as foolish and groundless, we only make him more afraid. They don't understand," he thinks. "They don't even see the danger. Because they don't see it, they may try to help me by pushing me into it." We have to accept people's fears as real, as being caused not by their imaginations but by their experience." By education expert John Holt, in his new book, "Freedom and Beyond" (Dutton, $7.95).

A BIT MORE ARRESTING
Stockholm Officer Lill

Can a delicate blonde named Lill also be a helmeted frontline riot-police officer? In Stockholm, beautiful Lill Petterson fills that bill, and if you think that's unusual, you haven't been keeping up with the policewoman's lot of late. This year, 100 policewomen in Washington, D.C., are on street patrol for the first time; and in New York City, 15 policewomen are training for patrol-car duty with male partners. Catherine Milton, of the Ford-funded Police Foundation, and Dr. Lewis Sherman, University of Missouri director of clinical psychology, contend that women—traditionally relegated to administrative or juvenile police work—can do as well or better than men in frontline police work. In dangerous situations, they say, training and personality count more than physical appearance, and women are less likely to resort to violence and are less likely to provoke it.

ONLY TWICE?

By Richard Armour

Women are twice as likely to lose money as men, a survey shows. News item
Money very rarely lingers
But slips and drips through ladies' fingers.

They stuff it into pocketbooks
With almost never second looks,
Then leave their pocketbooks where thieves

They give a clerk a bill, a ten.
Change for a one they get, and then
To find a bargain off they range.
Too busy now to count their change.
They drop it. There they let it lie,

A year after moving to Florida, a photographer was showing a native acquaintance some street-scene photos he'd taken in Miami. "The weather's great down here," the newcomer exulted. "Just by looking at these pictures, you couldn't tell which were taken in winter and which in summer."

"I can tell which is which," the Cracker-asserted. Then going through the photos, he did, without a miss.

Amazed, the greenhorn said, "How could you tell?"

"In winter," said the native, "we get Cadillacs and Lincolns. Summer, it's Fords and Chevies."
